House Chairman to Insist on Proposal for New Schedule if Surplus Is Above $50,000,000.

of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Definite steps will be taken at the forthcoming session of Congress to make the new tax law cover more than a single year.

The bill being framed by the House Ways and Means Committee will apply on all earnings of the year 1925 which are payable next March, but there is a feeling in Congress that even when the estimates of the Treasury as to the probable surplus for the next fiscal year are analyzed there will be an opportunity, or at least a demand for further tax revision a year from this December, too.

Shall the law be constantly revised? Treasury experts say it is expensive to administer a constantly changing law and that avoidance and evasion multiply when there is an expectation of a lower tax rate right along.

Two-Year Law in 1918.
The Democrats in 1918 framed a law that specified the rates for two succeeding years and thus hoped to go into the 1920 presidential campaign with the credit of having reduced taxes.

The Republicans were unable to make any further reductions—at least with the condition of the revenues then they did not like to jockey it, so they let the law alone.

If the Republicans who are in power fear that they may lose control of the Senate as seems to be possible, judging from the apprehension expressed by Republican Senators themselves, it might be to their political advantage to reduce taxes on a sliding scale downward to take care of the next two years so that the last half of the Coolidge administration will be conducted under a tax reduction written by a Republican Congress.

Representative Martin Madden of Illinois, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, will insist on his plan for an automatic reduction of taxes every time there is a surplus above $50,000,000. He feels that the taxpayers should get a reduction as a matter of course if the receipts exceed the expenditures and that Government expenditures should be held to a minimum.

Objection to Plan.
No one Congress can, of course, do a succeeding Congress, but the principle is established. It would be foolish to object to the Madden plan if by those Treasury officials who think it would mean rigidity and prevent larger payments being made on the public debt if the funds are available.

Madden's amendment will be difficult to defeat, and it would be surprising if it passed the House and provided considerable debate in the Senate. The purpose of Madden is to make it possible for the taxpayer to calculate his obligations as soon as the probable surplus is known, and he thinks that the stimulus to Government economy will be unparalleled.

Chairman Green Says Cuts Made Represent Maximum.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The fight over the amount of tax reduction that shall be made this year has changed from a skirmish to a battle.

A Chairman Green of the Ways and Means Committee, although admitting the Treasury estimates of the surplus are too low, endorsed the list for the administration and advised keeping approximately within the limits of $50,000,000 set by Secretary Mellon as the ultimate extent of reduction permissible.

The United States Chamber of Commerce advised that "tax reduction so far as the anticipated surplus allows" be made immediately.

Representative Garner, ranking member on the Ways and Means Committee, took issue with the statement expressed by Chairman Madden on Page 2, Column 8.

ST. LOUIS TO NEW YORK
IN 20 HOURS, 26 MINUTES

Pennsylvania Special, Chartered by Guy Waggoner, Texas Oil Man, in Race to Dying Sister, Sets New Record.

All records for a fast run from St. Louis to New York were broken today, and a millionaire's race to his sister's bedside was won, when a special Pennsylvania passenger train arrived in New York 20 hours and 26 minutes after leaving here.

The train arrived at 1:17 p. m. Eastern time, or 12:17 o'clock St. Louis time. It broke the previous record of 22 hours and 10 minutes established last spring by a special train on the New York Central.

Yesterday it established a record speed run of 65 miles an hour from here to Indianapolis.

Guy Waggoner, a wealthy oil man residing near Fort Worth, Tex., chartered the train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, after missing a regular train, to reach the bedside of his dying sister in New York. He was accompanied by his wife and a son of his sister by a previous marriage, John Wharton. They arrived here at 1:30 p. m. yesterday on a Texas train which was two hours late because of a freight derailment.

Unable to Hire Airplane.
Waggoner, who occasionally used a plane to go from his ranch to Fort Worth, a distance of 200 miles, tried unsuccessfully to hire a plane to New York. At 3 p. m. he reached Pennsylvania officials and ordered the special, which cost about $5607, on the basis of 125 fares. Assurance that his check was good was given by telephone by his friend, Mrs. Sam Lazarus of 4481 West Pine boulevard.

It had been Waggoner's plan to take the Pennsylvania's New Yorker, which left here at 12:02 p. m. yesterday, making the 1052-mile trip in 26 hours and 50 minutes, at an average speed of 40 miles an hour. The only regular train that exceeds this time to New York requires 24 hours and 75 minutes. The new train which Waggoner could have taken was the Gotham Limited, leaving here at 4 p. m. yesterday and due at New York at 5:10 o'clock tonight.

Waggoner was afraid that for that train, that he would arrive too late to see his sister alive.

The special, consisting of a Pullman and three baggage cars for ballast, with a full railroad and Pullman crew, left here at 3:51 p. m.

New Engine at Pittsburgh.
It made 242 miles from East St. Louis to Indianapolis in the record time of three hours and 41 minutes. It changed engines at Pittsburgh at 4:36 a. m. today and left there six minutes later. At 9:36 a. m. it roared through Harrisburg without stopping, two minutes before the New Yorker left there.

It had made the 87 miles to Harrisburg in 17 hours and 45 minutes, or three hours and 41 minutes less than the New Yorker requires. When the train pulled into Pennsylvania Station, New York, Waggoner was met by his son Albert and was told that his sister was still conscious and holding up well. Waggoner called to the members of the crew: "You win, boys, and thanks!" Then he hurried to an elevator to where an automobile was waiting to hurry him to his sister's home at 430 Park avenue.

He had made the journey from St. Louis to New York three hours and 44 minutes faster than the Pennsylvania's crack train and one hour and 44 minutes faster than the previous record.

Waggoner's sister, Electra, for whom the town of Electra, Tex., was named, is the daughter of Dan Waggoner, pioneer Texas oil man and a millionaire.

She is the former wife of Tom Wharton of Virginia, Weldon Bailey of Texas, and James A. Gilmore of Texas, and a member of the former head of the Federal Baseball League. The first two marriages ended in the divorce courts and the third was annulled. She has a second brother, Paul Waggoner, also a millionaire.

After the accident Hollis sped away from the corner of Jefferson and Shenandoah avenues, where Buchmueller had been struck. He was not seen again.

Durand accepted the upset of his plans with a laugh. He spent his final day of freedom in leading his football team "Durand's All-Stars" to a 9 to 0 victory over Hiwwood. He took the players to the Durand home at Crabtree Farm, where Mrs. Durand in person served them with a farewell supper for Jack.

MARRIAGE DEMAND IN GIRL'S LETTERS TO RHINELANDER

Fervor of Missives Changed to Insistent Threat That He Would Lose Her Unless He Acted.

PROMISED TO KEEP WEDDING SECRET

"After You Are Mine I Would Keep Quiet Until
You Are Your Own Boss."

By the Associated Press.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 16.—The fervor of the love letters which Alice Beatrice Jones, daughter of a negro hack driver, first sent to her husband, Leonard Kip Rhinelander, during their courtship, gradually changed to an insistent threat that he would lose her unless he married her.

Today's series of letters, introduced at resumption of the trial of young Rhinelander's annulment suit, are filled with demands of marriage and at the same time promised the greatest secrecy until the wealthy young scion of an aristocratic family should have attained his majority.

On Nov. 4, 1922, Alice wrote: "If you can't come home I will have to go away with some one else."

It was at this time that Leonard was attending school. Two months later Alice was even more outspoken. "You are going to be mine, now or never," she wrote. "I have thrown down two chances for you. I would keep things a dead, dead secret. After you are mine I would keep quiet until you are your own boss."

Again on May 15, 1923, she wrote: "I deserve everything I get from you. I had hundreds of chances to make dates but I have turned everything down."

This attempt by the plaintiff's lawyers to show that Alice sought to make young Rhinelander jealous was a continuation of the same effort of last week when her letters contained references to various stage celebrities whom she had met, and to rivals for her hand. In the fall of 1923 she wrote another letter complaining of Leonard's absence and telling him frankly that he would have to marry her.

"I am not going to remain to be true," she wrote, "because I have had a miserable summer. If you are as mean to remain away from me and forget me completely. I love you but you will have to come and marry me."

In March, 1923, she broached again the suggestion that they marry secretly, saying it was the advice of a friend named Kitty. Shortly after that she received her diamond engagement ring from young Rhinelander and wrote him: "Darling, I have won you. Haven't I dear?"

The second of the large batch of missives from Leonard to Alice made its appearance at this point. It was a telegram thanking her for a ring she had sent him. The first of his messages to her read last week was an invitation to visit him in San Francisco. Today's telegram said:

"Package arrived Saturday. No words can express how pleased I am with the ring. Many, many thanks, letter on way."

Bewailed Her Poverty.
Money affairs also made their appearance in letters read today. Alice at times bewailed her poverty. Complaining especially about her inability to take a trip to Europe, she said: "I often wish I was a rich girl."

Once the fervor of her first letters dropped out in a magazine picture contained in one of her letters. The picture showed a couple embracing and underneath was written: "Len, stay with me forever. Alice." In the body of the letter she said: "If you could only hold me again like the picture."

The importance of Leonard's becoming of age cropped out in another letter in March, 1924, when she wrote:

"When you become your own master what are you going to do with your Alice? When are you going to take her? I am looking for you more this May as you are going to be your own boss."

In May of that year that young Rhinelander became of age, their marriage taking place five months later.

JURIST WHO IS DEAD

ARCHELAUS M. WOODSON.

HORNSBY DENIES BET OF $6500 ON BUMPKIN

Cardinal Star Not Victimized
by Fixed Race at Latonia,
He Says.

"I wouldn't bet $6500 on all the horses in the world."

This was the reply today of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and leading batter of the National League, to a race-track gossip, published today in the Louisville Courier-Journal, to the effect that he bet and lost $6500 on a fixed horse race, Oct. 10.

Bumpkin was the fitting name of the hay-eater that was tipped to be a certain winner at the Latonia, Ky., track on that date, but was held back by its jockey, Donald Merger, and finished third. Merger, in a confession to the Kentucky Racing Commission, states that he confided to his friends that Bumpkin was bound to win and that he then doubled across these friends for $1000 received from another jockey.

"Foolish to Bet $6500."

"Why a fellow would be foolish to bet as much as $6500 on any nag," said Hornsby at his home, 5801 Maple avenue, when questioned about the publication. "During the baseball season, the boys in the clubhouse now and then get up a pool on a race, but never a large sum. Personally, I might bet $25 or $50 on some big race."

"I don't know Merger and wouldn't know him if he walked in on me today. I didn't bet a cent on Bumpkin. I have never been in Latonia. I happened to be in Cincinnati, across the river from Latonia, on a baseball deal, while the Latonia races were on, and that may account for the gossip. My wife and mother-in-law were with me."

The gossip was to the effect that Hornsby, in response to a hot tip from his friend, Merger, bet $6500 with a Cincinnati bookmaker on Bumpkin to win in the second race for maiden 2-year-olds at Latonia, Oct. 10. The finish showed Reclamation first, Youare second and Bumpkin third, with five others also running. Had Bumpkin won, a $6000 bet would have won much more than that sum, out as it was those who bet on Bumpkin to win lost everything.

Track stewards asserted Merger had to pull hard to keep Bumpkin from winning in the stretch.

Merger Suspended.

Merger was indefinitely suspended for the ride, and, on his subsequent confession, Joe A. Mooney, a veteran jockey, was ruled out of the Kentucky tracks for life. Merger, who is 18 years old, charged Mooney had paid him $1000 not to win. Mooney entered a denial. In barring him, the commission regretted it was "unable to get evidence to convict the parties that originated the deal."

Four Arrests Follow Strangulations
By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.—Four men were arrested yesterday in connection with the death of the three Philadelphia women within the last month by strangulation. In every case the men were charged with attacks or threatened attacks on women in much the same manner as "the stranger" is supposed to have operated. The prisoners gave the names of Arthur Webb, Arthur Jackson, Elmore Howell and Morris Pinnerman. The first three are negroes.

A. M. WOODSON, ON SUPREME BENCH 19 YEARS, DIES

Missouri Justice, Although in Ill Health for Long Period, Had Announced
for Re-Election.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 16.—Archelaus M. Woodson, 71 years old, Justice of the Missouri Supreme Court, of which he was a member for 19 years, died last night of cardiac asthma in a Kansas City hospital. He had been in failing health for several years, but recently was thought to be considerably improved.

The funeral services will be at the First Christian Church of St. Joseph, his former home, tomorrow afternoon.

In Ill Health Two Years.
For many years Judge Woodson was one of the distinguished jurists of the West, but because of the condition of his health during the last two years he has been able to devote little time to the duties of his office. Not realizing the seriousness of his condition, however, several months ago he announced his candidacy for re-election next year, and until he was forced to go to the hospital had been conducting an active letter-writing campaign.

In his nearly 20 years on the Supreme Court bench Judge Woodson wrote the opinions in many important cases, including the conditional ouster of the Standard Oil Co. under an antitrust action instituted by Chancellor Hadley when he was Attorney-General, and the overthrow of the attempt of Democratic State officials to restrict the State into senatorial districts in 1911. He was singularly free from political prejudice in his judicial mind, as shown by the fact that, although a partisan Democrat, he joined the Republican Judges in the redistricting case despite political pressure brought to bear on him.

Judge Woodson was born in Knox County, Ky., Jan. 30, 1854, and his family moved to Buchanan County, Mo., in October of that year. He was a nephew of Silas Woodson of Buchanan County, who was Governor of Missouri in 1827-28.

Attended St. Louis School.
He obtained his early education in the public schools of Buchanan County, Mo., and then attended the Clinton College for three years and later attended the St. Louis Law School, graduating in 1877. He was appointed Circuit Judge of Buchanan County by Gov. F. P. Frazer on Dec. 18, 1890, to fill a vacancy. In 1892 he was elected Circuit Judge for a term of six years and was re-elected in 1898.

In November, Judge Woodson was elected to the State Supreme Court for a 10-year term and was re-elected in November, 1916, for 10 years. During his service on the supreme bench he twice served as presiding Chief Justice of the court en banc, a position that goes in rotation among the Judges of the court each serving one-seventh of his term as presiding Justice. A son, Archelaus M. Woodson Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Lorene Robinson, both of Jefferson City survive.

Governor to Announce Appointment After Woodson Funeral.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 16.—Gov. Baker today declared he had made up his mind definitely on a successor to Judge Woodson, but stated he would not make an announcement until after the funeral of Judge Woodson at 2 p. m. tomorrow, from the Christian Church in St. Joseph.

Among Republicans mentioned in political circles are R. H. Davis of Fredericktown, and Alfred M. Seddon of Kansas City, one of the four commissioners of the Supreme Court. Seddon has been discussed as a probable candidate of the Republican nomination for Supreme Court.

St. Louis Living Costs More Than in New York

Persons of Small or Medium Incomes Must Spend 80 Cents Per $100 More Here
Than There, Figures Show.

The average St. Louisan, receiving a small or medium salary, encounters living costs 80 cents greater in each $100 expended than does a resident of New York City. The authority for this statement is the National Industrial Conference Board of New York, which has recently completed a comparative study of living costs.

The board takes 100 as a figure representing average living costs. The range downward finds Baltimore at the bottom, with $4.8 for its scale of living costs and rises to 123.8 in Seattle.

The statement explains that the figures reflect various factors in addition to prices, which are not apparent on the surface. The figures are based on actual expenditures of wage earners in the various cities, regardless of what they received for their money.

Comparatively high prices in a locality may indicate a higher standard of living, or higher prices, or both, but the fact of the cost of living remains unchanged, regardless of the factors that contribute to it.

Court Judge, and it is known that members of the Supreme Court would view favorably an appointment of Seddon, because of his experience in Supreme Court work. Seddon has been a member of the commission for about a year. At least one of the requirements for a new member of the court to become thoroughly familiar with the routine.

David W. Peters of Jefferson City has announced as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Supreme Court Judge, but is ineligible for appointment, as he is Representative from Cole County in the legislature. He could be appointed to the court during the term for which he was elected to the Legislature expiring next year. The development is a blow to hopes of Peters, as Baker probably will expect his appointee to make the race in 1928. The appointment by Baker will be good for 13 months, as Woodson's term expires Dec. 31, 1928.

The six Judges and Supreme Court Clerk J. D. Allen departed for St. Joseph this afternoon to attend the Woodson funeral.

Liquor Traffic Society's BIG ENEMY, ANDREWS SAYS

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 16.—Liquor traffic is the enemy of society today, Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the United States Treasury and chief of the Federal prohibition forces, said today in addressing the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

"If this serious, aggressive, unscrupulous and altogether powerful enemy of society is allowed to continue, society and Government will be undermined," he said. "I caution the business man who helps to finance this great outlaw force, the women, and all the citizens of this country, that unless a determined stand is taken by all organizations, civic and State, as well as national, our civilization evolved through the ages will fall."

Gen. Andrews said the Federal enforcement department had not been treated entirely fairly. "Look and see if your local police, your District Attorney and your local courts are co-operating. Form committees to observe the prosecution of cases and give that information to the people. It is not entirely up to the Federal Government to enforce this law. We do not want to institute another Spanish inquisition."

Stephenson Says Time Will Prove Him Not Guilty of Murder.

By the Associated Press.
NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Nov. 16.—David C. Stephenson was sentenced to life imprisonment (20 years under the Indiana law) today by Judge Will M. Sparks for the murder of Miss Madge Oberholzer of Indianapolis. The former "grand dragon" of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan chewed an unlighted cigar as sentence was pronounced. He was found guilty of second degree murder by a jury which reported late Saturday.

Stephenson delivered a short speech before he was sentenced in which he declared: "Time will unfold the cold, white light of truth and show this honorable court and the world that D. C. Stephenson is not guilty of this or any other charge brought against him."

FRENCH FASCISTS BY THOUSANDS RALLY AT PARIS

"Troops of Order" Declare

PARIS, Nov. 16.—French Fascists declared itself openly in Paris at a huge gathering of delegations from all parts of France.

Thousands rallied yesterday to the call of the president of the "Young Patriots" for the ceremony of the presentation of colors.

As an organized national political force, this was the Fascists first public manifestation. It was made the occasion for the solemn announcement of its purpose: "War on Communism; War on the Cartel des Gauches" (left bloc).

The French "blue shirts," or "troops of order," as they call themselves, declared through their spokesmen for "authority and discipline," and each delegation's representative as he stepped up to receive the tri-color banner, swore an oath of allegiance, promising to follow to death the leaders of order in the fight against what they consider forces of disorder.

The orators denounced "paralysis of the country's vital organisms, justice no longer independent because of tainted politics, blunted national will and public morale."

The chief delegate, Dr. Neufville, addressing the president, Pierre Tattinger, declared: "We swear this tri-color emblem shall triumph over the red flag. The way is rough but we will not flinch. Command—we will obey!"

Antoine Redier said all the Nationalist leagues are united in a common cause and are ready at any given moment to strike together and fight shoulder to shoulder.

Crises of "Dictator! Dictator!" punctuated his speech.

Melton's body was identified

$110 from the store that night.

Melton and his brother, Joseph,
three years his junior, were arrested a short time after the killing of Policeman McGrath here
and Henry later confessed that he killed the policeman. He said both
he and Joseph were armed and
had gone out "to attack up some
body." At his trial he repudiated
the confession, charging third degree methods. At the first hearing
he was discharged. In the second trial, in January, 1923, he was acquitted. Later the indictment against Joseph, a juvenile, was quashed.

Due to the arrest of the Mel-

they lived at 3402 Olive avenue.
Their mother, a widow, now lives

The cornerstone of the new United Hebrew Congregation Temple, now being erected at Skinner road, near Wydown boulevard, was laid yesterday afternoon, with ceremonies led by Rabbi Thurman, pastor of the congregation. Addresses also were made by Acting Mayor Nunn, the Rev. Dr. George
Hudson of the Church of the Unity,
Samuel J. Ruseack, Rabbi Julian
Miller and Rabbi Leon Harrison.
Rabbi Thurman, in his address,
said in part: "Greetings of good will and praise of our achievement
may have come to us from representatives of the community in which we live. In a sense, true achievement much, only through the generosity of our people and even
the self-sacrifice of some of them,
we have been able to enter upon
this great venture.

"In a deeper and truer sense we have much more to strive for and achieve. For this great edifice is to be built not only of brick and stone and mortar and steel, but toward its erection must come the abundant outpouring of hope and faith."

POLICEMAN KILLS
ST. LOUISAN ONCE
TRIED FOR MURDER

Henry Melton Shot to Death Companion Wounded in Suspected Holdup in Suburb of Chicago.

ACCUSED OF KILLING
POLICEMAN HERE

Confessed Shooting Patrolman John J. McGrath in 1921, but Repudiated
Statement and Was Freed

A suspected holdup man, shot and killed Saturday night at Evansville, a suburb of Chicago, in a pistol fight with a policeman,
was identified today as Henry Melton of St. Louis, who confessed killing Patrolman John J. McGrath
here in 1921 but later repudiated
his confession and was acquitted of a murder charge.

The shooting at Evansville bore
many points of similarity to the shooting at Kingshighway boulevard and St. Louis avenue, in which Patrolman McGrath, a young ex-service man, was killed on Dec.
6, 1921.

In both cases a patrolman had stopped two men for questioning.
In the Evansville meeting, however,
the patrolman beat the man to the draw, and besides killing Melton, seriously wounded his companion.
The mayor of Melton was Patrolman Richard Geuss. He was detained Saturday to guard a number of outlying stores on the northwest side of Evansville against hold-up men who had been operating in that district around closing time.

Stopped by Patrolman.
It was 9 p. m. when two men walked into a confectionery at 2327 Central street and, catching sight of the uniformed policeman
hastily hurried back to the street.
Patrolman Geuss stopped them on the sidewalk outside and demanded to know their business in the neighborhood.

One of the men, later identified as Melton, opened fire, but the policeman brought his own revolver into action at the same time. Melton fell with two bullets
in his left chest above the heart.
He died on the way to a hospital.
His companion was shot twice.
the hospital he identified himself
as Andrew Varda of 736 Cornelia
street, Chicago. He said Melton
lived at 923 Addison street, Chicago, and admitted that he and Melton had gone to Evansville to
rob some of the outlying stores.

Brother Turned Loose.
He gave Melton's age as 26, but
previous records made during Mel-
ton's trial for murder here, show
Mrs. L. E. Melton, arrived in Evansville this morning to take charge of the body.

Melton and his brother, Joseph,
three years his junior, were arrested a short time after the kill-
ing of Policeman McGrath here
and Henry later confessed that he
killed the policeman. He said both
body." At his trial he repudiated
the confession, charging third degree methods. At the first hearing
he was discharged. In the second
trial, in January, 1923, he was acquitted. Later the indictment
against Joseph, a juvenile, was
quashed.

Due to the arrest of the Melton brothers in the McGrath case,
they lived at 3402 Olive avenue.
Their mother, a widow, now lives
on Greer avenue.

Close-Up of Wrecked British Submarine

THE British submarine M-1, with 68 officers and men, now lies at the bottom of the English Channel, off the Devon coast where it dived last week during maneuvers and failed to reaspear. The M-1, built during the World War, was one of the few which mounted a 12-inch gun.

RAILROAD HEAD FOUND DEAD, WITH REVOLVER AT SIDE

Karl D. Klemm, 44, of Kansas City, Was Brigadier-General in Officers' Reserve Corps.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 16.—Karl
D. Klemm, president of the Kansas City Kaw Valley and Western Railroad and a brigadier-general in the United States Officers' Reserve
Corps, was found dead in his office, 1010 Commerce Building, with a bullet wound in his heart, late yesterday. He was 44 years old. Beside his body was found an army revolver with one chamber empty.
The revolver was one he had carried in France. Dr. Charles S.
Nelson, deputy coroner, expressed the opinion it was suicide. The revolver was found by the body. He pointed out, and there were powder
burns on his clothes.

No Notes Found.
A search of the office made by detectives failed to reveal a suicide note. Business associates of Klemm, who formerly resided in St. Louis, today recalled the activities he had displayed in recent years.
street, Chicago. He said Melton
lived at 923 Addison street, Chicago, and admitted that he and Melton had gone to Evansville to
rob some of the outlying stores.

Brother Turned Loose.
He gave Melton's age as 26, but
previous records made during Mel-
ton's trial for murder here, show
Mrs. L. E. Melton, arrived in Evansville this morning to take
charge of the body.

Melton's body was identified
yesterday by W. V. Keller, clerk in a drug store at 929 Main street.
Evansville, as the soft-spoken businessman who told him with a revolver
in the store last Thursday night
when he was slow in obeying a

GERMANS WILL DIVE
FOR THE BRITISH M-1

London Thinks They May Find
Some of Own Submarines Sunk in War.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The people of London feel that there is something quaint in having German deep sea divers sail in the attempts to locate the British monitor submarine M-1, which last week in the English Channel made a dive with 68 officers and men on board and failed to come to the surface.

Whether it is a business proposition on the part of the Germans or voluntary service is not quite clear; but some persons prefer to regard as "a striking act of humanity and worthiness of being considered the first fruits of the Locator pact."

The newspapers today are filled with descriptions and pictures of the wonderful apparatus of which the Germans are the sole possessors. The machine weighs half a ton and is equipped with an electric light and a telephone. The area
some 12 miles off Start Point, where oil rose to the surface of the water on Saturday, seemingly indicating the probable location of the submarine, has been marked by buoys, and it is here that the first attempt to find the submarine will be made.

It is understood that this will be the first time the German apparatus has been tried in the open sea.
All previous tests have been made in the still waters of an inland lake, and it is, therefore, thought possible that the present experiment may not be successful. In any case, the police judge the M-1 considered problematical, as she may have traveled some distance under water before she became incapacitated or may have drifted with the currents in the channel since she sank. Naval officials say the M-1 will not be surprised if the Germans locate one or more of their own submarines, sunk by the British in the neighborhood where the M-1 went down, and they had taken toll of British shipping.

CALLS FOR UNDERTAKERS
When Harries Arrived at Address, Everybody Was Found in Good Health.

A practical joker who apparently bore a grudge against bakers, or undertakers, or both, last Thursday night telephoned calls for hearers to five undertakers, giving each a separate address, which proved to be a bakery. The calls, all came from a woman.

Albert Ziegenhein of the Ziegenhein Brothers' Undertaking Co., one of the call which sent a hearer to 23 Sunset avenue, St. Louis County, for the body of John Mc-Carthy, only to find McCarthy in excellent health.

"It is not unusual for persons to take their spite out on others by some such trick," Ziegenhein said.
Four other undertakers, he said,
also received fake calls Thursday night.

73-YEAR-OLD THIEF
SHOT AT RECTORY
BY A POLICEMAN

Wounded in Exchange of Fire With Detective, on Guard After Contribution
Box Thefts at Church.

A 73-year-old burglar was shot and seriously wounded by City Detective Jeremiah Flynn early today in a revolver fight in the rectory of St. Mark's Catholic Church, Page
boulevard and Academy avenue,
where the policeman had been stationed to catch a persistent contribution box thief.

The fight took place in a darkened hallway connecting the rectory with the church, and each man had to pick out the other with his flashlight beam to find a target.

Each fired two shots. Detective Flynn was untouched. The prowler was shot once in the right leg and once in the right arm. He gave his name as Julius Zelnauer, but refused to tell where he lived.
The Rev. Peter O'Rourke, pastor of St. Mark's, estimated today that approximately $1000 had been stolen from votive offering receptacles and pew boxes at the church in the past year in a series of systematic thefts. So persistent did the thief become that the boxes finally were moved to the basement and connected by conduits to the slots in the church through which offerings might be dropped.

Detective's Story of Affray.
Last night the detective took up his station in the kitchen of the rectory, through which one must pass to get to the basement. It was 1:40 this morning when he heard the patter of feet on the hall floor outside.

He straightened quietly in his chair and drew his revolver. There was a grating sound as the prowler inserted a key in the lock and found the keyhole blocked. A short wait and then a crashing sound.
"I knew he was jimmyming the door," Detective Flynn said. "I stood up and pulled out my flashlight. The door swung open and I threw the light on the man. Throw up your hands, you're my prisoner,"
I shouted.

"He fired one shot and I returned his fire. He slammed the door and I could hear him running down the hall. I followed and caught up with him. He fired once more and I shot again. He fell to the floor."

Admitting Prison Term.
The prowler had a small canvas
sack in his pocket. Two Jimmies and a screwdriver were found on the floor beside him. He had $1.65 in nickels, dimes and pennies. His flashlight was hooded with canvas in such a manner that only a thin pencil of light was thrown instead of a broad beam.
Zelnauer admitted to reporters
today that he had served a penitentiary term and several jail sentences for petty thefts. He said he came to the United States from Germany 45 years ago and had since worked as a farm laborer.

WRIT AGAINST NEGROES

Judge Hamilton Dismisses Injunction Suit Against the Colored Paramounts.

Even if the rules, ritual and regalla of the negro brethren of the Paramount Progressive Order of Moose are virtually the same as those of the Loyal Order of the Moose, the law will not intercede.

Circuit Judge Hamilton today
held that the negroes have just as much right to call themselves Moose as have the members of the older white organization. After the two varieties of Moose had locked horns for a year, the Judge dismissed the injunction suit of the white Moose and the fight is just where it started.

The negro order appeared in January, 1923, with headquarters in St. Louis. Last autumn the white lodge filed suit claiming the negroes were using not only the name but were imitating the emblems, by-laws and ritual of the Loyal Order and promising negro prospects the privileges of the Moose homes, at Moosheart, Ill.
and Moosheaven, Fla. This the negroes denied.

Judge Hamilton agreed with the defense that a Moose is an animal,
and anybody has a right to use the word. He held that the difference in race would prevent any confusion between the two orders, and declined to recognize that any imitation existed.

MAN IN HOSPITAL TELLS

Rent Collector Says He Was Grabbed and Dropped Head Down; $290 Missing.

Wilfred Pierce, 49 years old, of 2614 North Twenty-second street,
a rent collector, is a patient at St.
Louis Baptist hospital, suffering from a concussion of the brain and lacerated scalp, while police are endeavoring to get an explanation of his injuries.

Pierce told the police he made a collection of $1 from a tenant at 2318 1/2 Chouteau avenue, about 7:30 p. m., Saturday, and was departing, when, as he was going down the stairs, he felt himself
picked up and dropped on his head.
When he regained consciousness his left trousers pocket was torn out,
and $290 in collections was missing.
A $10 bill in his right-hand pocket was still there. Police found the barrier had been wrenched away from the mishap, but were unable to find any clue as to the assailant.

LAWYER'S WIFE ENDS
LIFE, ESCORT IS HELD

Her Husband, Walter Hood of Birmingham Calls on Chicago Prosecutor.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Walter Hood, prominent lawyer, whose wife, Mrs. Florence Manly Hood, of Birmingham, Ala., society woman, took poison early yesterday in a hotel apartment, had an appointment today with State's Attorney Crowe.

He did not appear at the inquest where John Cashin, a Chicago business man, testified that he accompanied Mrs. Hood to the hotel Friday night and registered as "Mr.
and Mrs. Walter Hood." Cashin
previously had told police he registered in that fashion to facilitate visiting Mrs. Hood in her rooms to aid her in business matters. She had come here to select an apartment as she and her husband had planned to come to Chicago for an extended sojourn, he said.

Cashin said he remained at the hotel with Mrs. Hood that night, and the next evening received a telephone call from her. He testified that she then came to his hotel where they had several drinks
in the room of John Treacher, of Wheeling, Va., and that another man and woman were present. Mrs.
Hood became hilarious as a result of the drinking, Cashin said, and he took her to her hotel. He added that she "seemed hurt" when he told her to get some rest and that he would not take her to another hotel where he was to meet some friends.

Early Sunday, Cashin said, when he telephoned to her hotel and was told that she was ill, he hurried there. He had known her about four years, he said.
Cashin was taken to a police station to face a possible statutory charge.

ENDING OF U. R. RECEIVERSHIP IN 60 DAYS POSSIBLE

Committee Now Trying to Adjust Last Financial Obstacle in Path of Reorganization.

The next move in the attempt to terminate the receivership of the United Railways Co., apparently will revolve about a recent opinion of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals on the question of whether the company was responsible for defaults in underlying bonds which occurred while the receivership and general Federal Court administration superseded the company's power to act.

As is known, holders of $30,000,000 general 4 per cent bonds are opposing the Reorganization Committee's plan to replace with additional 4 per cent bonds, present underlying bonds amounting to $4,100,000 and receiver's certificates amounting to $4,200,000. The committee representing the 4 per cent bondholders declares that a default in its mortgage occurred when the company failed to pay off $4,100,000 underlying bonds which fell due Oct. 1, 1933, and which a Federal Court order threw into default by refusing permission to pay or extend them.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, in the suit brought by Milton von Boston to have the issuance of receiver's certificates in lieu of underlying bonds, declared a default, held that this was not a default and states that "it will be observed that all defaults and breaches of condition of the 4's mortgage are attributed to the company by reason of acts of the receiver and the court after such company had been divested of both the means and the power to act by reason of the appointment of a receiver."

The Reorganization Committee holds the fact that a default occurred during the receivership, in effect, places the matter in the position it occupied before the default occurred and that the company has the same option now to pay or extend the bonds that existed at the time of default when it was in receivership.

Stanley Clarke, counsel for the reorganization, said if the Court sustained this position, it was possible that the company would be reorganized and divested of receivership within 60 days. It has been in receivership for six years.

View of Opposing Counsel.
Rhodes E. Cave, counsel for the 4's committee, said that in his opinion the decision of the Von Boston case did not touch upon the question of the default in underlying bonds, but merely held that the issuance of receiver's certificates in lieu of $4,200,000 underlying bonds did not constitute a default. This, he said, had always been admitted.

"However, the default in the $4,200,000 underlying bonds occurred Oct. 1, 1933, and the company, by reason of failing to pay off, extend or replace them with 4's then, has lost that privilege forever and must now pay them off. It cannot replace them with 4-per cent bonds, as it could have done on the date of default."

The thought behind the 4's contention that the $30,000,000 underlying bonds and receiver's certificates must be paid off is that it enhances the security behind the $30,000,000 bonds by eliminating the $4,200,000 of prior obligations.

About six months ago the Reorganization Committee, through Receiver Wells, sought to pay off or extend the underlying bonds and receiver's certificates, if the receiver could procure under the refunding provision of the general 4's mortgage, a like principal amount of general 4 per cent bonds and sell them to the committee at par. Federal Judge Paris dismissed this application, saying it was not in proper form and since that time the offer has been renewed with modifications.

Cave said last night that several conferences on the matter of adjusting the contentions of the Reorganization Committee and the 4's committee had been held and that progress had been made toward a settlement of the question.

This matter, if adjusted, will remove the last financial obstacle in the path of reorganization. The question of a 50-year or indefinite franchise, which the company proposes to seek from the city under the terms of its service-at-cost plan, could follow the termination of the receivership.

How to Detect High Blood Pressure

Thousands of men and women are on the road to serious high blood pressure and will not know it until face to face with one of its dangerous effects. It is known high blood pressure causes Bright's disease, Apoplexy and often sudden death.

If you experience dizziness, shortness of breath, head pains, flushed face, nervousness, sleeplessness, or chronic fatigue take these as nature's warnings, and don't fail to begin checking them at once.

High blood pressure is caused by poisonous waste matter accumulating in the system or the weakening of one or more organs. This forces the heart to double the work and raises blood pressure.

The quickest acting simplest home treatment for reducing high pressure is with a purely vegetable medicine like Norma, the successful prescription of a famous Buffalo physician.

Norma contains no harmful or habit forming drugs and its effect is immediate. It drives out poisonous waste matter, lessens the burden of the overtaxed heart and swiftly and safely reduces blood pressure. Get a bottle of Norma today and free yourself from life shortening high blood pressure. At Waldrup's, Doherty Drug Store and all other good druggists.

Most persons are honest and will return lost articles if the loss is advertised in Post-Dispatch want. Phone the want ad or leave it with your nearest druggist.

2 YEARS FOR BROKER WHO SOLD MAIL LOOT

John Dummeyer Testified Against Gangsters Convicted in Truck Holdup Case.

John Dummeyer, stock and bond broker, and Government witness against eight Egan and Cuckoo gangsters on trial for the $250,000
robbery of an armored mail truck
at Third and Locust streets April 6, 1923, was sentenced today to two years in the penitentiary and fined $500 for his part in the disposal of securities stolen in the holdup.

If Dummeyer, after his arrest,
had chosen to tell Postoffice Inspectors what he knew of the robbery, it is likely he would not have had to serve time. But the story he told sent the inspectors on a wild goose chase. It was only when the investigators finally struck the right line of investigation that Dummeyer told the truth and volunteered to testify against the robbers.

Partially as a result of Dummeyer's testimony "Dinty" Colbeck, four of his Egan followers and three Cuckoo gang members were sentenced to 15-year penitentiary
terms last January for the downtown holdup.

They were sent to Leavenworth,
where the five Egan were already lodged on 15-year sentences for the robbery of a mail messenger at Stanton, Ill., in May, 1923.

Horace L. Dyer, special Government prosecutor in both mail robbery cases, suggested today that District Judge Farris send Dummeyer to the penitentiary at Atlanta, where Ray Renard, another informer against the Egan gang, is also lodged.

Jury Disagreed at First Trial.
Dummeyer pleaded guilty of possession of stolen securities before the mail robbery case was called for its first trial. On that occasion the jury disagreed. By the time the second trial was called, Colbeck, Steve Ryan, "Chippy" Robinson, "Red" Smith and Oliver Dougherty were at Leavenworth on the Stanton sentence,
but they were brought here and stood trial with Roy Tipton, Leo Cronin and "Featheredge" Schmidt, Cuckoo gangsters.

Before Dummeyer was arraigned Dyer said he would make no suggestions to Judge Farris to the sentence to be imposed. He explained that Dummeyer had told the jury
only after the inspectors had worked up enough information to force him to it. That State of facts was recognized by Judge Farris in his remarks to the jury.

Comment of Court.
"It is unfortunate that you did not see fit to make a clean breast
of the whole affair when you were first questioned," he said. "I am going to consider, however, the fact that you did finally tell the truth. You are a man of intelligence and I believe a relatively light punishment will be as effective as a longer term."

Dummeyer formerly lived at the Melbourne Hotel. He recently has been in Florida. In the employ of his father-in-law.

Walter Kelly, a blind lawyer,
and Max Simonson, a Fenton tal-lor, are still under indictment in the mail robbery case. They took severance from the other defendants. The Government today continued their case for the term.

HOME COMING HUNTERS MEET GAME WARDENS AT BRIDGE

Twelve Fined $1 and $11.70 Costs at Maxville; Officers' Search Blocks Traffic.

Three Deputy States Game
Wardens stationed themselves on Lemay Ferry road just south of the Meramec River, in Jefferson County, last night and searched each automobile as it crossed the bridge,
seeking violators of the State hunting laws. Several times during the evening traffic was blocked for about two miles south of the bridge while hundreds of hunters underwent examination.

Hunters without licenses and those having more than the legal limit of 15 quail were arrested and taken back to Maxville, two miles south of the bridge, where they were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Theiss, who held a night session of court.

Fines of $1 and costs, which were fixed at $11.70, were assessed against 12 persons who pleaded guilty to the charges. Eight of those fined were St. Louisans and the other four were from Granite City.

Deputy Voerg and two of his honorary deputies, Fred C. Darlan and Charles Withworth, made the arrests.

MEMORIAL TABLET UNVEILED

Description to Miss Clara McCluney Dedicated at Church.

A bronze tablet in memory of Miss Clara McCluney, who died
two years ago today, was unveiled
yesterday in the Sunday school room of the Second Presbyterian Church, Taylor avenue and Westminster place. Miss McCluney was active in the church throughout her life and during her last 10 years was superintendent of juniors
in the school.

The program consisted of musical numbers and short talks by Mrs. Evelyn M. Campbell, Miss Margaret Shapleigh and Miss Edith Southern. The ceremonies closed with an address by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. John W. Maciver. Miss
McCluney's nephew, Daniel Mc-Cluney Jr., unveiled the tablet which was the gift of a group of friends. It bears the inscription:
"In memoriam. 1875-1923. Her works do follow her."

OBJECTS TO DELAY IN BAKERY CASE

Trade Commissioner Points
Out Control of 23 Companies by One Corporation

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Vigorous dissent to action of the Federal Trade Commission in voting to amend the complaint issued last April against the Continental Baking Corporation has been made public by Commissioner Thompson. The complaint charged acts tending to a monopoly in the baking industry through acquisition of other baking companies and Thompson's dissent was registered Nov. 6, when the Commission decided to amend it "to include allegations of the violation of the Clayton act by reason of other acquisitions of stock," as reported by the Commissioner's chief examiner.

The effect of the Commission's action was held by the dissenting Commissioner to mean the taking of additional testimony and evidence by the examiner, a step which he declared could result only in unnecessary delay in the case.

The Commission had made public without comment a report of its chief examiner, recommending that no action be taken at this time into a reported $400,000,000 baking merger involving the Continental and the Ward Baking Corporation and the General Baking Co. on the ground that sufficient evidence of such a plan did not exist to warrant further steps at this time.

New Companies Added.
In his dissent to the amendment of the complaint against the Continental, Thompson said that although it was issued last April, no answer had been filed nor testimony taken. Since April, however, the company had added nine corporations to the 14 it previously controlled, he asserted, listing the new ones as follows:

R. B. Ward Co., Inc., Los Angeles, with bakeries at Los Angeles, Berkeley and San Diego, Cal.
New England Bakery Co., Somerville, Mass., with bakeries at New Bedford, Springfield, Somerville and Lawrence, Mass.
Occident Baking Co., Minneapolis, with bakeries at Minneapolis, Minn., and Madison, Wis.
Washington Bakeries Corporation, Seattle, with its plant at Seattle.

Spokane Bakery Co., Spokane, Wash., with a plant at Spokane.
Perfection Bread Co., Sacramento, Cal., with plant at Sacramento, Cal.
Log Cabin Baking Co., Portland, Ore., with a plant in Portland.
Ogden Baking Co., Ogden, Utah, with a plant at Ogden.
Butter Crust Baking Co., Salt Lake City, Utah, with a plant at Salt Lake City.

Every Indication of Monopoly.
"The merging of the nine corporations and their 15 plants gives every indication of a growing and continuing tendency toward monopoly by the respondent," said Thompson. "For the commission to stop now and amend the complaint, serve it on the respondent and permit the respondent to have the required time for filing, will exhaust at least 40 days more."

"Moreover, if at the end of the time the respondent has taken over additional plants, then under its present theory of action in amending, it means that it must again halt the proceedings, re-amend its complaint, start all over again, and allow at least an additional 40 days to pass; meanwhile, the facts indicate an increasing merging and tendency toward monopoly that once completed will be almost, if not impossible, of dissolution, should the facts developed at the hearing support such action."

"The delay can be obviated by taking testimony at once, not only of the facts alleged in the complaint, but of the acts supporting the acquisitions that have occurred since the issuance of the complaint."

WOMAN WHIPPED BY MEN
She Is in Harrisburg, Ill., Hospital, Severely Injured.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HARRISBURG, Ill., Nov. 14.—Confined to bed in a hospital suffering from injuries inflicted in a whipping by three men, Mrs. Vera Williams, 28 years old, of Eldorado, told yesterday her experience with the three abductors.

Mrs. Williams said she had left her husband last Monday and came to Harrisburg and was rooming at the home of Mrs. Neil Boozler. Saturday night she was visited by a friend, J. E. Henderson of Eldorado, and while he was there the police entered and arrested both. They were escorted to the city hall, where they later paid fines and were released. Mrs. Williams says she started back to the house after her clothes.

On the way to the Boozler home she was seized by three men, one of whom was masked, she said. They took her to a spot north of Muddy, where they administered a severe whipping to her. Her body bears scars from the blows down. She said they made her promise to return to her husband and four children. She went to the home of Mrs. Foster, in Muddy, and an ambulance was called.

"Hurry Dad, Get the Gun"

It happened at Niagara Falls, N.Y., last winter. A strange, rattling noise in the dead of night brought the boys wide awake with a start. One of them grabbed the NIAGARA SEARCHLIGHT from the dresser, rushed to the window and focused on the garage. A burglar was working at the garage door while his confederate watched at the alley gate. "Get the Gun, Dad" shouted the youngster—but even if Dad had a gun it would have been too late. The bright rays of the NIAGARA SEARCHLIGHT had routed the marauders at the first flash.

For your home, and for every home, there is no better protection than a NIAGARA SEARCHLIGHT. Everyone should take advantage of this remarkable opportunity to get one.

ARCHBISHOP ISSUES LETTER ON BURIAL PRACTICES

Opposition to Cremation and Burial of Catholics in Non-Catholic Cemeteries Set Forth. A letter concerning burial practices, and opposing cremation, has been sent by Archbishop Glennon to the Catholic pastors of the city, to be read from every pulpit at some time during November. The letter, which is in large part a repetition of one issued in 1917, says: "The church from the beginning has been opposed to cremation; and the services of the church and Christian burial are denied to those who direct that their mortal remains be cremated. From this general rule, exceptions may be made where there are grave reasons, as for instance, in cases of epidemics, war, and other causes necessitating cremation as a protection for public health. "Neither is it permissible for Catholics to be buried in non-Catholic cemeteries, unless, in the few cases where the deceased may have been a convert to the church, and before said conversion have acquired, or whose family had acquired, a lot in a non-Catholic cemetery."

SUSPECT IN $12,000 THEFT BROUGHT BACK FROM CHICAGO

Edward W. Hesse Delivered to Police by His Bondsman in Robbery of Milliner. Edward W. Hesse, charged with the theft of $12,000 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Ludwig O. Muench, of 4736 Westminster place, Aug. 18, was returned from Chicago yesterday by his bondsman, Edward Miller and turned over to Detective-Sergeant Lally. Hesse was arrested in Chicago after an exchange of shots with policemen. An automatic pistol was found in his possession. A woman, who was with him was questioned in an effort to locate Mrs. Muench's jewelry. Hesse was arrested after the robbery of Mrs. Muench at her millinery store at 292 North Euclid avenue, and identified by her by his "foreign accent," despite the fact that he had shaved his head. She pointed out a scratch on his cheek, which she said she inflicted during the holdup.

Church Observes Golden Jubilee. The golden jubilee of the Church of the Holy Name, 2041 East Grand boulevard, was observed yesterday. The parish was established in 1875. The Rev. P. P. Crane is pastor. Archbishop Glennon gave the papal benediction, and the jubilee sermon was preached by the Rev. J. H. Tettemer. A telegram of congratulation was received from Bishop C. E. Byrne of Galveston, a former pastor.

WOMAN IN CAFE PARTY HITS COOK BECAUSE OF SLOW FIRE

Patrons Walk Out While He Is Unconscious From Blow Struck With Salt Shaker. Two women and two men gave a big order in a restaurant at 5441 Union boulevard at 4 o'clock yesterday morning and demanded prompt service. As Lloyd Reeves, the cook, prepared steaks and ham and eggs, one of the women picked up a salt shaker and suggested that he show some speed. "I'm doing the best I can, lady," Reeves said. "Here's my best," she replied, and threw the shaker. When Reeves came to the ham and eggs and steaks were burning, and the party had left. A doctor said he was suffering from a slight concussion of the brain.

INGROWN NAIL

Turn's Right Out Itself

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions. A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" is Far Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly. For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drug store.

HOOVER URGES UNIFIED SHIP ADMINISTRATION

Present System of Divided Responsibility Assailed by Commerce Secretary.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Ending of the present system of divided responsibility under the Shipping Board's control of Government ship operations, in the opinion of Secretary Hoover, is the most pressing need for progress in the nation's merchant marine development.

The Secretary presented his views on the question to a recent letter to Chairman White of the House Committee on Marine and Fisheries, which he made public in an address to the shipping conference convened here today by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Referring to the board's refusal to follow the views of President Coolidge by vesting operating authority in the President of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, Hoover declared its present personnel had "denied responsibility to the President, the one responsibility which every administrative officer of the Government should acknowledge under the spirit of the Constitution."

Proposes Advisory Board.
Hoover proposed that in the exercise of such authority the fleet corporation head should be assisted by an advisory board composed of Cabinet officers and the chairman of the Shipping Board.

Government support of shipping should be maintained, he said, but attempt should be made to enlist regional and community aid in meeting deficits, with the ultimate aim of getting private ownership to assume the burden.

STEAMBOAT CAPTAIN AMONG TEN KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Capt. E. T. Brown Married Miss Helen Duggins of Marshall, Mo., Whom He Met in Germany.

One of the 10 persons killed and the last to be identified in the Pennsylvania Railroad wreck near Monmouth Junction, N. J., Thursday, was Capt. E. T. Brown, whose wife formerly was Miss Helen Duggins of Marshall, Mo.

Brown was 36 years old and a captain in the service of the United American steamship line. He met Miss Duggins in Hamburg, Germany, two years ago and their marriage followed shortly afterward. Until recently he was in command of the S. S. Mount Clay. He recently established a residence at Mount Vernon, N. T., and was on his way there when killed.

Besides his widow, Brown is survived by a daughter, Betty, 6, by a previous marriage. Frank Duggins of Marshall, a brother of Mrs. Brown, passed through St. Louis yesterday on his way to attend the funeral services. Interment will be at Thomaston, Me., Brown's birthplace.

CHARLES L. HALL, ON POLICE FORCE 52 YEARS, DIES AT 80

Illness Prevented Attendance at Board Meeting Friday When He Would Have Been Pensioned.

Charles L. Hall, 80 years old, Confederate veteran and policeman for 52 years, who at the age of 75 was still able to catch burglars, died yesterday from an illness which had prevented his attendance last Friday at the Police Board meeting, where he was to have been pensioned on half salary.

Sergt. Hall, as he then was, performed his notable police work Aug. 12, 1920, when he came upon four burglars leaving the residence of Dr. Elsworth Smith Jr., 4502 Maryland avenue, and made two of the prisoners, knocking one down and covering the other with his revolver, while the two others fled. He had been a sergeant since 1875, but in 1922 had to accept demotion to the rank of patrolman through inability to continue beat duty. He was assigned to courtroom duty at the Municipal Courts building. His death occurred at his home, 4972 Berthold avenue, and the funeral will be held there at 10 a. m. Wednesday. Patrolman Hall is survived by his wife and two sons.

MAN FOUND DEAD AT WHEEL OF AUTO IN OWN GARAGE

Motor Still Running When Neighbor, Smelling Fumes, Made Investigation.

The body of Lloyd Sutton, 33 years old, proprietor of a filling station and garage, at Eighteenth street and St. Louis avenue, East St. Louis, was found at 6:30 a. m. yesterday in his automobile, the engine of which was running in the garage. The body was found by R. L. Teal of 1806 St. Louis avenue, who investigated after hearing the motor running with all doors of the garage closed.

Teal said a strong odor of carbon monoxide gas was in the garage when he found Sutton slumped over the steering wheel of his machine. Sutton suffered an attack of heart disease last spring and it is not known whether his death was caused from heart disease or carbon monoxide poisoning.

BROUGHT RELIEF AFTER 2 YEARS SUFFERING

"The makers of Tanlac will always have my warmest thanks, for I don't consider it any exaggeration to say I owe my life and present good health to Tanlac." is the striking statement of Andrew Groeschner, Bremen.

"Words simply can't express the misery I endured for 2 years from indigestion. At times the pains would catch me around the heart and almost cut off my breath. These awful pains would last two and three hours. My nerves were all unstrung. I slept poorly and got in such a bad way that my days seemed to be shortening."

"I tried everything, but disappointment was my only reward until I began taking Tanlac. I have been taking Tanlac off and on for a year now and feel so different that there is no room for comparison. I feel good and sleep good and feel that Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Acetone is substitute."

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches and that lulling come from constipation and a little laxative. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "tired" and "heavy." They clear the bowels and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

CARNIVAL MANAGERS SUE
FOR $90,000 RAID DAMAGES

Members of Police Board, Chiefs Gerk and Kaiser Named With Four Policemen as Defendants—
Two damage suits aggregating $90,000 were filed today against members of the Police Board, department heads and four officers as the result of gambling raids on a street carnival last April.

Charles M. Oliver, a carnival owner, asks $30,000 for loss of patronage and profit, and Oscar Marquardt, who operated an "automobile push game" in Oliver's show, asks $20,000 on a similar count and $30,000 for false arrest.

Named as defendants in both suits are Police Commissioners Orrick, Freund, Kortjohn and Magoon, Chief of Police Gerk, Chief of Detective Kaiser, Sgt. Mulcahy and Patrolman McKenna.
Sgt. William A. Dempsey is named also in Oliver's suit, and Patrolman Adam Riek in Marquardt's suit.

The plaintiffs assert that the police violated an injunction when they raided the show at Eleventh and Hickory streets on April 14,
and disregarded a contempt citation by Judge Falkenhainer when they raided it again on April 26.
The suit described the police action as "illegal, oppressive, wanton and malicious," and pointed out that Marquardt's game required skill on the part of the player. The plaintiffs assert that the "interference" caused patrons to avoid the carnival and virtually destroyed its money-making possibilities.

St. Louis. She was shot in the left thigh, left arm and in the back part of the head in the quarrel between the two men over her. She was taken to Deaconess Hospital
at the time and removed to her home about two weeks ago.

Earle Toole, former Williamson County resident, had been taken to East St. Louis police that he shot Miss Osbourne and the man, who was registered at the hotel at Robert Stanton of Harrisburg, Ill., but was identified after his death as Lester Tons of 1935 Sells avenue, St. Louis. Toole, who is held in asserts he shot Tons in self defense.

FELL FROM TOP OF BOX CAR

Sustains painful injury but gets quick relief

Men who handle big hazardous jobs demand quick, effective help for sprains, strains, lame backs and bruises.

A freight brakeman on the Chicago and Northwestern Railway fell off the top of a box car on his left arm, spraining it and tearing the ligaments loose.

"I suffered great pain," he writes. "Then I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away. I have now no pain to speak of at all. The swelling has nearly all gone down." (Name and address given on request.)

What is the magic of this amazingly effective remedy? Sloan's sends an increased supply of healing blood right to the spot that hurts. That's what conquers the pain. No need to rub. Sloan's does the whole job. Just pat it on. Quickly and surely, it kills pain, cures swelling and inflammation, cures stiffness from lame muscles.

METHODIST WARNING AGAINST GOV. SMITH

Only One Party at Polls if He Is Nominated, Dry Board Tells South.

Post-Dispatch Bureau. WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church has issued a warning to the South against Gov. Al Smith of New York. "Beware of Mayor-elect Walker and his schemes for harmony," the board says.

"The South," say the Methodists, "will be interested to know Mr. Walker's connection with New York's odorous prizefighting game and with those elements which are doing their best to murder American standards of morality."

The advancement of Gov. Al Smith as a proposed presidential candidate is, in view of the circumstances of the last campaign, astonishingly effrontery, and there is no doubt it will so appear to the South.

The members of this board, who belong to the Northern, not the Southern, branch of the church, predict that Walker will experience a courteous hospitality "not given to Mr. McAdoo's Southern delegates at the New York convention," but they added, "he need not be misled thereby into believing that the South will support the country's foremost political champion of the liquor interests."

Methodist Drys Are Worried. The Methodist board and other dry organizations here are worried over representations that the Southern States are beginning to tire of the Volstead act because it is not effective. They are afraid Southern Democrats may seize the opportunity to bury the hatchet with their Northern allies.

"Let the South remember the defiance by Tammany of the Democratic decision, rendered by the South, West and a large portion of the East, that the liquor traffic shall not be legalized and protected in its exploitation of the American people," the board statement declared. "Let it remember the propaganda which is systematically organized to incite to crime in the South and West in order that prohibition may be overturned by these criminal activities. Let it remember that Gov. Smith and his friends were the first political group in America to introduce a religious issue into a convention of a political party, an atrocious thing to do in a country where all religions stand upon the same basis."

Religious Prejudice Denied. "The effort to make it appear that Gov. Smith's opponents are 'prejudiced' against his religion is false now as it was then. To a man they have more respect for a good Catholic than they have for a bad Protestant. But they will never accept as a President a man whose conduct of his office as Governor of New York promoted the effort to stabilize a condition of dry-law nullification and incited ignorant and criminal people throughout the country to violation of the law."

"Let the South remember the insults and epithets that were showered upon the delegates who refused to be bullied into this political conspiracy."

The Methodists say they believe the South would bolt the Democratic party if Smith were nominated for President by the party.

"If Tammany, or a Tammany candidate, is allowed to dictate the nomination of the next Democratic convention, the South knows that for all practical purposes there will be only one party when the people march to the polls in November," it said.

"Let the South be on guard. Let all America be on guard."

2099 ILLINOIS FIRMS SUEED

Action on Failures to Report and Pay Franchise Taxes.

By Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 16.—Prosecution of 2099 Illinois corporations for failure to file annual reports and pay franchise taxes, has been started here by Attorney-General Carlstrom at the request of Secretary of State Emmerson.

More than 90 per cent of the proceedings are directed against Chicago corporations. The total number is a decrease from the number prosecuted the previous year. Both years Emmerson fully advised these corporations of the penalties they were incurring.

Tortured by rash on face

Resinol stops itching and makes skin clear and smooth

Piney Creek, N. C., Jan. 4.—"I had a breaking out on my face that looked like chicken pox. I suffered so from it that at night I would not sleep for hours at a time. I tried various remedies, but nothing did me any good until I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. It stopped the itching and burning instantly and after a few applications the skin peeled off and left my face clear and smooth. Instead of rough and lumpy, I don't know of anything better than the Resinol products." (Signed) W. R. Mitchell.

bage pail. He suffered a fractured skull, and was pronounced dead by a neighborhood physician.

DEMOCRATS PLAN TARIFF FIGHT IN COMING SESSION

Attack to Be Made on Farm Machinery Duties and Inquiry of Commissions Activities.

LEADERS PREPARE FOR NEW PROGRAM

Attempts to Smother Aircraft and Shipping Board Investigation Reports to Be Vigorously Opposed.

Post-Dispatch Bureau. WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—A series of investigations has been decided upon by Democrats of House and Senate, as part of their constructive program for the coming session of Congress.

Decisions along this line have been reached in the last few days in conferences which Democratic Floor Leader Garrett, Representative Garner (Tex.), Representative Hull (Tenn.), Representative Oldfield (Ark.) and other Democratic House leaders have held with representative Democratic Senate leaders, like Simmons (N. C.), Harrison (Miss.), Swanson (Vt.) and others.

Leaders of both sides have made up their minds that the coming session will be the most political in character of any held in years. To meet this situation, the Republicans are planning to hold down legislation to the bare outline of the Coolidge recommendations and passage of the revenue and appropriation bills.

New Program Planned. The Democrats, now in the minority, are preparing to write a new charter for the Democratic party which will enable it to go before the country as a political organization with a distinctive program. Senate and House leaders have determined that for the time being leadership of the party rests with them, and it is their task to knit up the fractures which occurred during the last election and formulate a program that will enable it to go before the country in both the congressional elections of 1924 and in the presidential election of 1928.

Without surrendering to the ultra radical sentiment of the country, the Democratic purpose, as it is being discussed and formulated by Democratic congressional leaders, aims to give the party a program which should appeal to the generally liberal sentiment of the country.

Decision to go along with the Republicans on a compromise revenue bill in order to get tax reduction out of the way as soon as possible is part of this program. No attack on business is envisaged in the Democratic program; no appeal to hurry or disturb business unfairly. It suggests, however, the deep-seated conviction in the minds of many Democratic leaders in Washington that the present administration is dominated by business to an unfortunate degree, that it is being operated by representatives of big business for the benefit of business and that the agencies of Government have been given over to their control.

Fight on Tariff. Part of the program decided upon is a frontal attack on the tariff. Incidentally, and directly upon the high cost of living, for which the tariff and related Republican policies are held responsible. Separate tariff reduction bills will be introduced, notably one for the removal of tariff on farm machinery, while Representative Hull proposes a resolution to investigate the entire subject of tariff and revenue structure generally.

In moving for investigations, the Democratic minority will support those initiated by the independent Republicans, and on their own suggestions will appeal for support from the various elements of insurgency within the Republican party. They anticipate support from the Far West and the Middle West farm insurgents.

For example, they are likely to support the move which Senator Borah is making in the direction of a thorough investigation of the office of the Alien Property Custodian. They will ask independent Republican support for the investigation which Senator Walsh will sponsor concerning the operations of the Mid-west Continental Oil Co. to determine by what methods it has been able to control the Mid-west field.

New Inquiries Planned. Two investigations made in the last session will come before the House for final report and such action as is deemed wise. These will be the aircraft and the Shipping Board inquiries.

ATHLETE OVERTOPS MAHOMET IN CARTOON, MOSLEMS ANGRY

Artist of London Star Depicted Famous Cricketer in "Gallery of Celebrities."

CALCUTTA, Oct. 15.—The popularity of Jack Hobbs, the Babe Ruth of British cricketers, has stirred Moslem wrath in India. When Hobbs made his hundredth century at cricket, establishing a world's record, the cartoonist of the London Star included the great cricketer in his "Gallery of the Most Important Historical Celebrities," which also included Mahomet, Charlie Chaplin, Lloyd George, Moses and Abraham. This was like fire to the tender susceptibilities of the Mohammedan conservatives.

They have held protest meetings, rallied in the press and on many platforms against the "ill-mannered" editor of the Star, and passed resolutions calling upon the Imperial Government to discipline the offender. Hindu and Anglo-Indian papers have ignored the hubbub.

Recently the Indian Board of Censors refused to pass an American motion picture in which Mahomet figured.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Star cartoon which aroused Indian Moslem anger was published Aug. 15. The cartoonist depicted a sort of hall of fame with a gigantic figure of Hobbs towering over pygmy-like representations of Adam, Mahomet, Caesar and others. The cartoon was entitled "It." A few days later the Colonial Office told the Star that London Moslems were deeply incensed. The Star immediately published an apology.

Hadley, of St. Louis, chancellor of Washington University and former Governor of Missouri; Charles E. Hughes, former Secretary of State; Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois; Franklin D. Roosevelt, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and Chester H. Rowell of California, member of the Railroad Commission.

The policy of the National Crime Commission, which had its inception last July at a meeting of prominent citizens in the office of Judge Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, will now rest entirely with the Executive Committee, Davis said.

GERMAN NATIONALISTS AGAINST SECURITY PACT

Convention Declares Allied Concessions are Insufficient and Cheers Speaker Who Says "One Kaiser"

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
BERLIN, Nov. 16.—The nationalist party in convention today adopted a resolution declaring against the Locarno security pact as "a grave menace to Germany's freedom." The resolution pledges the party to fight against ratification.

The convention also adopted resolutions declaring that the allied concessions, in relaxing their hold upon the Rhineland are insufficient. The question of war guilt was brought up and the convention demanded a revocation of the charges against Germany as responsible for the war.

When Count Westarp, making a bitter attack against the treaties, proposed the return of the Hohenzollerns the convention went wild with enthusiasm.

"One people, one Reich, and one Kaiser!" was urged by a Bavarian speaker.

The leader of the German Nationalist Youth, hailed the day when Germany will be once again united and powerful "under a German Emperor."

The resolution declares the eastern security pact a mere revision of the Locarno agreement.

Disarmament of the entente states, which would alone mean equality, is not assured by the treaties and the conditions for signing the pact have not been fulfilled, the resolution declares.

FALL OF MEDINA IMMINENT

BOMBAY, British India, Nov. 16.—The fall of Medina, the Prophet's City," in Hedjaz, before the attack of the Wahabi tribesmen, is imminent, according to advices from authentic sources there. The inhabitants of the city are reported to have invited Ibn Saud, Sultan of Nejd and leader of the Wahabis, to enter and receive their help.

GOLD SANDALS ON TUT'S FEET, GOLD ALSO ON HIS TOES

Official Announcement Says Forearms of Pharaoh's Mummy Are Laden With Magnificent Jewels.

RICHES TO BE SHOWN IN CAIRO MUSEUM

Examination Reveals Mummy Is That of Boy, Much Emaciated—Tomb Closed to Visitors.

By the Associated Press.

CAIRO, Nov. 16.—The treasures found in the tomb of the boy King Tutankhamen soon will be brought to the Cairo Museum for exhibition. Meanwhile, as they are being furnished, the tomb will be closed to visitors.

The evidence thus far adduced through an inspection of the mummy in its coffin of gold tends to show that it is that of a boy and that when death came the person was greatly emaciated. The mummy was not removed from its case, but instead the wrappings about it were cut through from the mask to the feet. Owing to the fragile condition of the wrappings the greatest care had to be exercised.

Text of Communique.

An official communique, issued by the Ministry of Works, says: "On Nov. 11, in the presence of the Government and scientific representatives, Howard Carter began the examination of the mummy of Tutankhamen, which was carried on in situ, since the mummy could not be removed from the coffin without injury.

"The outer surfaces of the wrappings, which were in a very fragile condition, were first consolidated by means of a thin coating of melted paraffin wax, after which Prof. Derry made a longitudinal incision from mask to feet. The outer coverings on being turned back exposed a layer of wrappings which were equally carbonized and decayed. In these circumstances an orderly unwrapping was manifestly impossible.

Body Greatly Emaciated.

"By the 13th, the work of uncovering the mummy had proceeded only so far as to expose the lower part of the body and limbs. According to the opinion of the anatomical experts, the evidence to the present reveals without doubt, that the body is that of a male, not yet adult, in a much emaciated condition.

"Carbonized on the feet are gold sandals and upon each toe and finger, golden studs. So far, no trace of documents has been discovered.

"Both forearms were loaded with magnificent jewels. The jewelry discovered upon the King, who lies in a coffin of solid gold, is far beyond expectations.

Crown Described as Most Precious Relic Of Ancient Jewels

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and North American Newspaper Alliance.

(Copyright 1925, by United States Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)
CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 16.—An official bulletin was issued yesterday signed by Howard Carter and Prof. La Cau, summarizing their examination of the mummy of King Tutankhamen up to noon Friday. In a later dispatch I said that the crown had been discovered. Since then I understand that the linen wrappings have been removed, revealing the crown as the most wonderful find yet. It is probably the world's greatest artistic masterpiece of the jeweler's art surviving from antiquity, and is unequalled for its sentimental and historical associations.

The young Pharaoh's face and neck are still covered, but the outlines of some bulky necklaces, jewels and gold have been seen and felt. As the work of uncovering the chest has proceeded, more jewelry and gold have been found. Carter and La Cau, the archeologists in charge, state cautiously that Tutankhamen was "a male, not yet of adult age." The statement that the young Pharaoh died at about 16 years will not be made officially until a full medical examination is possible. But the excavators agree privately that he was not more than 16 and possibly only 15. In fact, the carved gold coffin, which closely adhered to the lines of the body, showed a boy's face, and revealed to the investigators the truth about his age even before the coffin was opened.

Probably Died of Tuberculosis.

Tutankhamen in all probability was not murdered, but died of tuberculosis.

INCREASE IN APPLICANTS TAKING BAR EXAMINATION IN HOPE OF "GETTING BY"

Low Educational Requirements Cited by Member of Board as Cause of High Percentage of Failures.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 16.—Low educational requirements of applicants for licenses to practice law in Missouri which invite persons of limited education to take the State bar examinations with the hope of "getting by" is ascribed by the State Board of Law Examiners as the principal reason for the increasing number of failures in the bar examinations.

In three examinations held this year 565 applicants failed, or 40.4 per cent of the 664 persons examined.

Last year 51.1 per cent of the 589 applicants failed and in 1923 the failures were 13.3 per cent of the applicants. For the three years, including nine examinations, 437 applicants or 43.9 per cent of the 1414 examined, have failed.

Reason for Secrecy.

"You have criticized our secrecy. It is true that all possible secrecy was used, and that the fact that the coffin was of solid gold was suppressed in the official bulletin issued in October. But consider Mr. Carter's responsibility. The Valley of the Kings is one of the loneliest and most exposed places on earth. For thousands of years it has been raided intermittently by desert bandits. Had the news gone abroad of the presence here of such an immense treasure, a remote possibility existed of some suddenly organized raid.

"Even now, it cannot be fully removed, and at least will be out further chemical treatment, for the bandages are carbonized and stick to the body as well as to the coffin.

Jewelry Blackened by Fluid.

"So the wrappings were cut from head to feet, after the magnificent jewelry which had been found in the coffin had been removed. Most of the jewelry was sewn into the mummy clothes, and much of it is blackened by the fluid, but it can all be restored to its pristine brilliance.

The daggers around the King's waist, the informant says, are stuck into gold mesh work, perhaps the same as that shown on the famous statue of Tutankhamen found some years ago buried in the Temple of Karnak. This statue must have been carved shortly before the King's death, as it portrays a youth of 15 or 16. The official statement that no documents have yet been found on the body of the King appears to conflict with the information already received that Carter had found a book of the dead, which he intends to publish in facsimile. It appears probable, therefore, that the book was found earlier, not in the inner coffin, but in the outer coffin cases.

FOOD PRICES ON INCREASE

Average Rise of 1.5 Per Cent Between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Labor Department studies of retail food prices showed today an average increase of 1.5 per cent between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, and of 8.5 per cent during the 12 months ending on the latter date.

Taking the 1913 level of food prices as 100, the department placed it at 141.6 in October, 1925, and 159 in September. During the month 20 articles entering into the cost of living index showed an average increase of 1.5 per cent, while 20 others, including cabbage, pork chops, sirloin steak and most other beef cuts, baked beans and sugar, decreased.

LAW SENDS LAZY VOTERS TO POLLS

First Test of Australia's Compulsory Act Shows Big Increase in Ballotting.

By DELAMORE MCCAY, Publisher of the Sydney Sun.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH AND CHICAGO DAILY NEWS. Copyright 1925.
SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 16.—While still early to describe the full effect of the first test of Australia's new compulsory voting law, an idea of the impetus it has given lazy voters may be gained from figures of groups of nine electorates each, in Melbourne and Sydney.

Compared with the last Federal election in 1922, the Sydney group of Labor votes increased from 112,000 to 154,000, and non-Labor from 75,000 to 140,000. Melbourne Labor increased from 111,000 to 210,000 and non-Labor from 67,000 to 171,000.

This shows there has been a decrease of electoral apathy among the voters of the Labor party. But even these great increases do not suggest a great examination of the elections that more than 80 per cent of the electors have obeyed the law. Therefore, if the 20 per cent of defaulters out of the 3,250,000 enrolled in Australia are mulcted in the prescribed penalty of $10, the revenue will amount to more than $5,000,000.

The result of the election firmly establishes the Bruce-Page coalition of the Nationalists and the country party with 46 members in the House of Representatives, but because the majority of retiring Senators happen to be Ministerialists it will be necessary for the Government to win from 14 to 23 contests for seats for a bare majority. The early count suggested that this may be accomplished.

The election is regarded as a great landmark for the Labor party in state after state.

The oldest voter in the world, James Wardley, 110 years old Oct. 20, exercised his franchise in the Melbourne electorate. He has voted in 65 elections.

Haney Defended by Senator McNary.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Coming to the defense of Bert E. Haney, Democratic Shipping Board Commissioner, whose resignation President Coolidge requested several months ago, Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, told the executive today that Haney represents the Pacific Coast's view of the way the Merchant Marine law should be enforced. He declined to say, however, whether he had urged the President to submit to the Senate Haney's nomination to continue in office.

CAILLAUX ATTACKS 15 PER CENT TAX PLAN OF PAINLEVE

Former Finance Minister Doubts if Nation Can Stand the Proposed Extra Burden.

MEASURE BEFORE DEPUTIES TOMORROW

Caillaux Says He Didn't Have Time to Swing American Opinion on Debt.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright 1925, by the Press and Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch).

PARIS, Nov. 16.—The finishing touches have been put to Premier Painleve's plan for an extraordinary contribution by the Chamber's finance committee, 16 voting for it and 4 against, with many absences. It will be the center of heated, probably violent, debate in the Chamber of Deputies, and then in the Senate. The measure will go before the Deputies tomorrow.

It is an obligatory contribution of 15 per cent of all forms of wealth. Realty owners must pay one and one-half times their annual income, either at once or in annuities for varying periods up to 14 years. All business and industrial enterprises must pay the same—expressed as 50 per cent of the profits of the last three years. Bond holders must pay 15 per cent of the value of their bonds, divided into 15 annual payments. Salaries of more than 50,000 francs a year are taxed from 3 to 5 per cent, according to size. Unproductive capital will be levied for 3 per cent. Until the contributions are paid the State holds 15 per cent mortgages on all these forms of wealth.

Consolidation of Bonds.

To avoid inflation it was decided Tuesday to consolidate the 2,500,000,000 francs of short-term Treasury bonds coming due Dec. 8, offering a choice of other bonds, which is a way around immediate payment and proves off the fatal day three months.

The Socialists, although their ideas dominant in the new plan, are not entirely satisfied. It is not expected there will be successful opposition in the Chamber, and unless there is a narrow majority in the Chamber it is believed the Senate will let the bill go through.

The bill seems to have a successful chance of passing, however, of the consolidation of Treasury bonds and failure to meet obligations Dec. 8, Joseph Caillaux, former Finance Minister, in an address at Aubagne in the Sarthe, declared this was fatal to France's credit and would ruin the chance of raising more money within the country. It is necessary to raise more to finish restoration of the devastated regions, he said.

Confession of Fiscal Inability.

The policy, he continued, is confession of inability to pay with little to be gained by it. Calm and patience instead of hurrying through half-digested measures, he said, would better serve the purpose.

"It is dangerous to repay notes with another kind of notes instead of money," Caillaux declared. "By whatever name it is called, it is alteration in the state's engagements. In a case of national peril it would be excusable, perhaps, to fall to meet payments, but to avoid what is called inflation it is difficult to understand how the state can resign itself to such default."

Failure of Debt Mission.

One of the reasons why France is in a financial crisis, Caillaux said, was the failure of his debt mission in Washington.

"It was not easy, it was not even possible, to lead a nation like the United States at a single bound to an understanding of our situation," he said. "We had not sufficient contact with the United States. We had not as people come to class enough relations, and on this account the Americans could not simultaneously with the first official discussions come to understand our views."

"I thought and believed I saved a country well. We had better resign ourselves to passing through."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Troubles of the Grade Teachers.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Due to the fact that the writer hereof has quite a few friends among the grade teachers and quite intimate relations with others of that profession, he feels moved to write a few observations on the above subject in the hope that a remedy may be found for what is considered a hardship, to say the least. Under the present "high pressure" order of things now prevailing in our public schools, the grade teachers, those upon whom the great majority of our children must depend for all the education they will ever get, are driven almost frantic with trying to impart useful information and the requirements of the course of study to 40 or 50 "hopefuls." Next our grade teacher must meet with punctilious exactness the demands of the superintendent, one assistant superintendent and eight supervisors. Next she must, or rather, is strongly urged to, do extension work at Harris Teachers' College, which, of course, involves faithful and persistent home work to keep up with her subjects there undertaken; then she is required to be constantly furnishing some sort of statistics, "flow of the office." She is now being required to furnish for the "office" a statement showing the number of "college credits" which she has attained, which, I wish to say, Mr. Editor, has an ominous meaning for the teacher into whose locks silver threads have found a place, for when she began to teach, these so-called "college credits" were not required. She must know and record the peculiar traits of every one of her pupils, mental tests, reading, observation, etc., until the "Song of the Shirt" is a benediction when placed beside the teacher's duties.

At night, when sleep should be "kneading up the raveled sleeve of care," she is struggling with the new "fads" and "fancies" which she may be called upon to "put on" at any time after school hours, and which she has attained, which, I wish to say, Mr. Editor, has an ominous meaning for the teacher into whose locks silver threads have found a place, for when she began to teach, these so-called "college credits" were not required. She must know and record the peculiar traits of every one of her pupils, mental tests, reading, observation, etc., until the "Song of the Shirt" is a benediction when placed beside the teacher's duties.

What is the "raveled product"? By their fruits ye shall know them. The pupil who graduates from our grade school is a pretty "crude" proposition. He usually can't spell, and writing is scarcely to be thought of. He knows arithmetic facts, but his "fads" and "fancies" are now of no help to him; he has gone through school, had a good time, evenings free, no home work (you know this is not fashionable nowadays), but he finds himself lacking in the things that are essential and with which his father was well equipped.

Do let us ring the bell on a lot of this rubbish and put the supervisors to work—teaching, and let the grade teacher have a breathing spell after school hours; let us quit developing so many neurotics in this branch of our educational department.

Yours in behalf of the teachers.
A FRIEND OF THE SCHOOLS.

Observance of Armistice Day.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHY is Nov. 11 not a full legal holiday? To me it seems that at least could be done to show the appreciation due those who sacrificed their lives during the World War. And, too, what would be our attitude toward those responsible if we who are able-bodied and enjoying the pleasures of life were among those disabled soldiers in the hospitals who have done their duty—would not our fighting spirits be aroused—could we smile and be jovial when the anniversary of that day of days passes with merely a comment in the paper and a few flags displayed? I vouch not one of us would feel our sacrifice was worth while. Why doesn't the American Legion get busy and support their buddies?

ONE WHO CANNOT FORGET.

For Forestry Departments.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I SHOULD like to ask: Why in the name of common sense doesn't the city, State and Government plant fruit and nut trees on the highways instead of so-called shade trees? Fruit and nut trees would not only give shade and beauty to the surroundings but would supply healthful food to thousands of people and reduce the cost of living. Why is this not done? Will some of the so-called economists tell us? R. E. K.

The Doomed 600.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN our daily travel about the city we find many interesting situations, but none can compare with the doomed 600 feet of Knox avenue. This stretch of street, bounded by four large corporations, a railroad on the north, a large brick concern on the east, a railroad on the south, and a steel mill on the west, is a main thoroughfare to Clifton Heights. Its condition today, and has been for months, is literally one shell-hole alongside of another for the full 600 feet of its length. A proof of its condition can be found in broken automobile springs strewn along its length. We are sure the owners of these machines have paid in repairs more than enough to save the stretch with the finest of materials.

Let us hope something will be done to relieve its terrible condition. C. C. L.

HEART RIGHT, HEAD WABBLIES.

Senator Borah's heart is right, but his head wabbles. With his characteristic vigor he joins the British campaign against the use of the submarine as a war weapon, but goes beyond that and urges an attack upon the institution of war itself, outlawing it by a common agreement among the nations of the earth. "Let there be an agreement," he says, "among the civilized nations, that war is itself a crime."

The sentiment is excellent; the purpose is admirable. But what shall be the means by which the agreement shall be sanctioned and the purpose carried out? A mere agreement would have moral value and force as an expression of world opinion, but it would not prevent war unless means were taken to prevent it. When war is declared a crime there must be a law against it, and means of enforcing the law.

There is now an international organization created to prevent war, and which in its practical operation has prevented war. If war is to be outlawed and prevented, there must be some substitute by which disputes and frictions between nations may be settled. The League of Nations has set up a substitute, embracing delay, conciliation and arbitration, and for the framing and codifying of international law, and for the settlement of all judicable disputes it has established a Permanent International Court of Justice.

Senator Borah will have none of these. Heartily supporting the ends of justice and peace designed to be attained through the League of Nations and the International Court, he repudiates the League and the International Court. In so far as he has been able as a Senator and is able now in his influential position, he has fought any participation by the United States in the agreement and the organized co-operation of nations to prevent and outlaw war. In his present influential position as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he has given notice that he will defeat any effort of the United States to participate in any way in the established international concert to abolish war.

War cannot be abolished by fiat. Its abolition must be accomplished by the growth of the will to peace among the nations, and the building up of an organization designed to avert war with the support of the nations of the earth.

What greater advance could be made by the United States in the work of outlawing war than by joining and supporting the organized movement of the nations to prevent it? If we will not as yet participate in the League, we ought at least to participate in and help support the International Court of Justice.

It is because Senator Borah, believing that war ought to be outlawed by international agreement, will not take the first practical step towards this end that we say "his heart is right, but his head wabbles."

THAT "MARCH TO BERLIN"

Col. E. M. House has vigorously denied the charge, said to be current in Europe, that Woodrow Wilson was responsible for ending the World War prematurely and thus preventing the march to Berlin.

France, England and Italy, Mr. House reminds us, did all war-weary, and all wanted peace more than did the fresh, unimpaired United States. The premiers of those countries at that time—Clemenceau, Lloyd George and Orlando—were for peace, and so was Marshal Foch, for the practical reason that the terms demanded of Germany then were the same as would be demanded in Berlin. Wilson had no part in the decision other than to concur.

With each recurring Armistice Day, for a time at least, the intransigents among the allies will deplore the fact that they did not march to Berlin and give to Germany the devastation and destruction that were coming to her. And since Woodrow Wilson alone of the men in whom lay the power of decision is dead the charge is preferred against him. In the circumstances which prompt it the charge is unworthy of denial or notice of any kind. But for the sake of historical accuracy the point ought to be clarified in a formal statement by the responsible statesmen.

Leonard Kip Rhinelanders has just been unanimously elected a member of the National Boob Society, upon motion of Osborne Wood.

HAZARDS OF HUNTING.

From Michigan recently came news of a man who had been mistaken for a bear, and killed by another hunter. Recently a boy was killed in St. Louis County. Perhaps these were not the first hunting fatalities of the season, and certainly they will not be the last. Each hunting season brings its tales of men mistaken for deer in the North woods, and slain by their too eager fellow sportsmen. High-powered rifles the big game sportsman use may miss the deer and kill a farmer in the next township.

The following piece is fatal, too, taking its toll from those who follow the feathered small game in marsh or field or wood. There are tragedies of men who killed themselves or their hunting companions through bunglesome use of firearms; through failure to exercise reasonable care in handling their implements of sport. The recent death of a boy who accidentally shot himself while hunting rabbits is a warning.

Carelessness, complicated by ignorance, causes most of the hunting accidents. They will not be eliminated entirely, but a favorite sport of millions of men may be made much safer by knowledge and precaution. No one should hunt with a rifle, without knowing its range, nor fire it until the quarry is clearly visible. Discretion of that sort will reduce the number of homicides in the deer country, but the added safeguard of bright-colored garments should not be neglected.

There are simple rules for the use of shotguns, too. Never carry one loaded in a car or moving boat, nor keep one loaded about club or camp. Always see that the muzzle doesn't point at oneself or others, when in field or blind. Do not drag the piece through brush or fences.

These matters may seem trifling to the budding Nimrod, but they save life. Civilized man comes from a long line of hunters. Men will hunt while the game survives, and, with the number of sportsmen increasing, it is worth a little care to make the pastime safer, lest recreation turn to desolation.

THAT INDIANA VERDICT.

D. C. Stephenson, a former grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, was found guilty of second-degree murder by a jury at Noblesville, Saturday. The verdict, it is explained, automatically calls for 20 years' servitude, which the Indiana law regards as life imprisonment. The case has attracted wide attention because of the extraordinary nature of the crime, the prominence of the defendant and the character of the victim.

The story as developed at the trial was unbelievably revolting. Abduction deliberately planned and carried out for the purpose of protracted debauchery is the kind of crime that men of the name of Stephenson do not commit. And when unspeakable associates appear on the scene and abet this bestial orgy the thing becomes all the more incredible. But there is a dead girl whose dying statement an Indiana jury believed.

It is unnecessary to say that Stephenson is not representative of the Klan, but the Klan, nevertheless, is in a sense responsible for him. For example, witnesses at the trial testified that Stephenson as a Klan leader had come to regard himself as all-powerful. He frequently said: "I am the law. I am the government." In such statements he was expressing the philosophy of the Klan's practice. "The State—It is I," decreed by a King of France, is echoed by a Ku Klux Dragon.

An Indiana jury has ruled otherwise. It has found this potentate a criminal and has sent him to the penitentiary. The verdict is a triumph of righteousness and justice and constitutional government. It serves notice on Klan leaders that they are not above the law. Coming from Indiana, which is recognized almost as the ark of the Klan covenant, the verdict has especial force and significance.

MOO, COW, MOO!

All Americans will, of course, thrill with pride to learn that German dairymen are planning the use of jazz music to induce their cows to give more milk. The subject, however, is not without its delicacies, and may lead to international misunderstandings between the cows and us and their masters and us and between the cows and their masters.

Have we any jazz music suitable for cows? We used to have a song that started out: "In the green fields of Virginia, dear, I met you." We used to have another which said, "When the moon shines over the oo-cow shed I'll be waiting at the k-k-kitchen door." These songs, anyone will concede, might soften the heart of a cow and increase her yield of milk. But the ancient lyrics are dead and forgotten.

What can we send to our friends, these trustful German dairymen? We no longer sing about green fields and clumps of clover. Everything is hot-tototy now. Any modest cow would be shocked into paralysis by our present-day songs on hot mammas and cheating' papas. It is a problem. We can only implore the demons of Tin-Pan alley to go back to nature and write a song that cows will enjoy.

A BRAND-NEW LITERARY SENSATION.

Now the literary world has a new sensation. It promises to rival that created in the eighteenth century by Thomas Chatterton, "the marvelous boy," who wrote remarkable poems which he claimed to have copied from ancient manuscripts found in an old chest. But Nathalia Crane of Brooklyn, "the marvelous girl" of today, only 13 years old and accredited author of two books of poems which have been acclaimed by competent critics in both America and England as works of genius, has been accepted from the outset as the original writer of the poems published under her name.

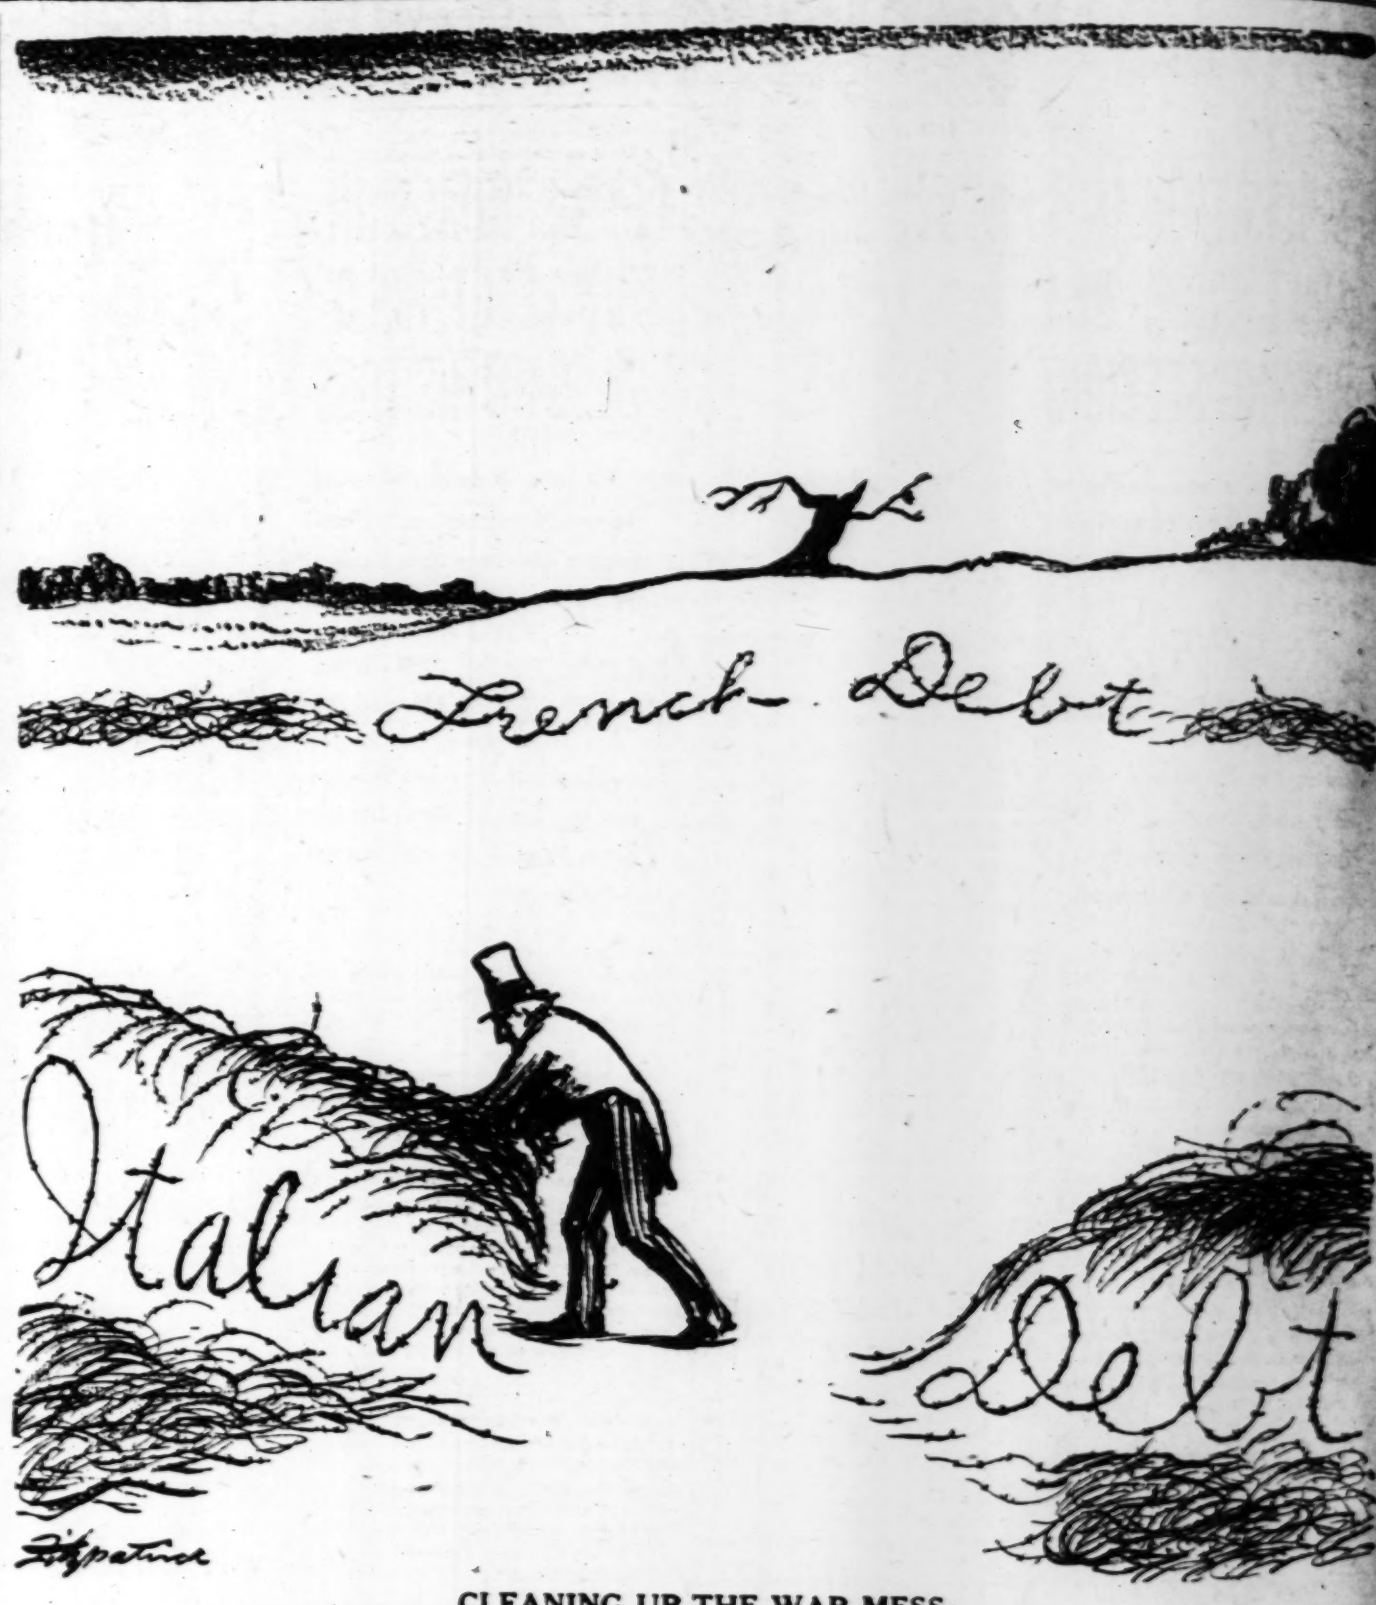

Nathalia's case, however, has got into the courts. It appears that her first book, "The Janitor's Boy," published about 18 months ago, has sold to the number of about 65,000 copies, at $1.50 a copy. On the lowest royalty estimate, Nathalia should have received at least $10,000 for her share of the public's investment in her work. She is said to have received only $500, and the Court has named a guardian, superseding Nathalia's father, to find out what became of the rest of the assumed royalty money.

And now there is a suspicion that just maybe, perhaps, or possibly, the poetry-buying public has been hoaxed. There are vague hints afloat to the effect that Nathalia really is not the author of the Nathalia Crane poems. The corollary—no proof of which has been advanced, mind you—is that an adult poet, or several adult journeymen of the divine art, wrote the lyrics and ballads in "The Janitor's Boy" and "Lava Lane," Nathalia's new volume.

But let us form no prejudicial opinion. Nathalia should have her day in court before the literary world blows up with indignation. Maybe then it won't explode. Perhaps Nathalia can prove her authorship. In any event, the controversy is something decidedly new under the sun, and all of us are fully entitled to hope that the noble art of poetry has not been insulted by a hoax promulgated for the vulgar purpose of making money for somebody.

TO SOMEONE.

When I come back, ten thousand years from now.
As fish, or fowl, or o' well, anyhow—
When I come back to give the double-o-
To fellow ghosts upon the world below;
I guess I'll lamp the well-known scenery.

And I shall shed an unrequited tear.
You see, I'll be a wise old 'Plam then:
I'll know the Cosmic What? the Why? the When?

I'll know what makes the whole darn
works go 'round.
The moon, the stars, and by what rules
they're bound.
I'll know so much . . . well, anyway, my
dear.

As I was saying, I shall shed a tear.
For I'm convinced I never shall be wise
Enough to answer questions in your eyes.

HATMARKET THEATRE.—The tragedy

RONDEAU OF SENTIMENT.
When fancy roams, and love is kind
And only half as deaf and blind
As men would have him then, my dear,
Is paradise not ever near
And sorrow very far behind?

Nay, love, seek not to set the mind
Above the fancy; you may find
No precept for a haunting fear
When fancy roams.
Princess, my love, who once entwined
Her arms about me and repined
When she held not my golden cheer,
Is gone; bring on the poisoned beer!
I always taste the bitter rind
When fancy roams.

A ST. LOUISAN ABROAD.

FRANCE.
Wandering through Palmpol at night we happen on the flickering acetylene lamps of an itinerant show. An acrobat, his poor wife, two pale-faced sad-looking boys, and a goat make up the troupe. They live in a strange looking vehicle, half wagon half house, with stove pipe smoking and a curtained window. The village gathers, attracted by the "band"—a trombone and a drum. An interesting group, that audience of tanned, fisherfolk, in their curious provincial dress, under the shadows of those flickering lamps. The tired boys and lone goat drag out a lengthy program of acrobatic stunts until a long roll of the drum announces the closing thriller. The goat mounts a chair, set upon a table, another chair is added, table upon table and chair upon chair are piled to dizzy heights, the goat balances and blinks upon the topmost chair. There is an anxious adjustment of the furniture, a long silence of delicious suspense, closed eyes here and there, another long roll of the drum, tense faces, the "leap," suppressed shrieks and—the collection. Just a difference of degrees between the great five-ringed circus at home and the wandering family show of remote Palmpol.

We ride on through a succession of bare, sallow villages, with strange looking churches, weird mixtures of a crude gothic and a fantastic romanticism with perforated steeples peculiar to this isolated country. Here and there an elaborate calvary in grotesque medieval style. On a marble slab before one of them are offerings of cattle hair, to ward off the foot and mouth disease. At Trezier, birthplace of Victor Renan, is a lovely fifteenth century cloister.

Every few miles the shapes of the lace caps change, the prettiest of all at distant Douarnenez, where we arrive one evening just as the sardine fleet comes in. It is a colorful scene, these hundreds of boats with great brown sails and their light blue nets draped from the mast heads. The fishermen in white of a terra cotta color and wearing blue tam of shanters and wooden shoes. The decks of the boats covered with pearly mackerel and silvery sardines. And nearby, on the following Sunday, was the "parade" of St. Anne de Polve, an impressive religious fete peculiar to Brittany. An interesting combination of provincial parentry and modern movie making. Early in the morning the pilgrims, in colorful peasant costumes, streamed into the little town, knelt to pray, filed by the altar of the little church, kissed the sacred relic, and joined a great open-air mass on the amphitheater-like hill above the village. There, with lighted candles, they formed a solemn procession. In the midst of carried relics and flying banners came the aged and stately Archbishop of Rennes, with a benediction for all. Across the road, feasting, dancing, drinking, merry-go-rounds, and the usual paraphernalia.

From this strange scene of reverence and of revelry, of worship and of worldliness, the tired, happy crowd fought its way home that night on foot, horseback, b-w-l-a, old-time chaise and modern automobile, over the dust-bug roads that led away in all directions out of the weary little town of St. Anne de Polve.

A TRIBUTE TO INGERSOLL.

From the New York Evening World.
THE memorial to Robert G. Ingersoll was unveiled yesterday afternoon at No. 10 Gramercy Park, where the great orator lived so many years. It was not a tribute to the agnostic. He meant infinitely more than agnosticism to this city and country. He was the premier orator of the community whose spoken word became literature with the utterance. He was a voice against the narrowness of traditions. He was a humanist in the broadest sense, a lover of the beautiful and worth-while in literature, drama and the arts. He had a keen eye for genius and artists of the written word, painter, composer, singers, actors and actresses, and not a few of these owed their initial recognition to his discovery and promotion of their talents. He was always generous in his praise of merit and he awaited the applause of the crowd to the deserving on their way. Think the home in Gramercy Park was not so much the residence of a man as it was a shrine of religious views as with the orator and artist the benefactor of the deserving struggling for recognition. With the passing of the years, even his religious views have come to be an apalling. Many his views were condemned, have since become the commonplace utterances of the pulpit. What ever mistakes he may have made, his purpose covered a multitude of "isms." He was to unshackle the mind, to free the party of thought and speech, to clear away the brambles of prejudice and custom, tradition that humanity might advance to a better day.

King Franz, her apparent to the throne of . . . Karlsruhe, obtains through his unpedantic tutor, Dr. Engel, the promise of a student at Heidelberg. His vacation endures only four months, but he has time to learn to guzzle a "malamander" with beer, and fall in love with Kathi, waitress at the Inn of the Three Golden Apples.

From these academic joys the Prince is plucked to assume a crown and to wed his cousin, a princess. He is to spend his time about the palace for two years, putting off his marriage under various pretexts, and mooning over his betrothed, Kathi. The betrothal festivities give rise to the munificent third act.

Alas, Poor King!
Then the King returns to Heidelberg for a last visit, and is . . . associated to find that his old classmates, the "Three Golden Apples," stand in his presence, sip their beer with reserve, and sing their college songs with an undertone of panic. To crown these disillusioned, King Franz, announced that tomorrow she is to wed a hilly keeper. King Karl returns sadly to his palace, with nothing living but a throne and a waiting noble bride. This tale renews a prologue and four acts and did not reach an end until 11:30.

"The Student Prince" is virtually devoid of humor, and is not particularly absorbing as to story. Regarding Sigmund Romberg's score, we sought to listen attentively and found scarcely a moment of interest in his smooth, workmanlike music. Of course, it is not to be mentioned in the same breath with the score of "Hosianna," and seemed to the writer far less thrilling.

"The Student Prince" is the best moment of quotations from the old German university songs, such as "Hosianna" and "Hosianna." The dialogue and lyrics are cleverly. What was intended to be an unhappy ending turned out through vagaries of casting to appear a lucky escape. The name Kathi, by the way, was invariably spoken with the English "th."

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

EXCLAMATIONS of wonder and delight filled the Schubert-Rialto Theater last night when the curtain rose upon the third act of "The Student Prince in Heidelberg," a spacious apartment of ceremony in a royal palace. Gargantuan tapestries, towering silken arras, great candelabra, a majestic staircase and furnishings of gold were animated by a multitude of characters in sumptuous gowns and resplendent uniforms. No ornate revue has ever presented in St. Louis a spectacle more opulent and aesthetic than this exploit of massive design and vibrant color. A few minutes later, the Princess, Countesses, Ambassadors and other glittering dignitaries were clattering through a rowdy, tramping dance like a chorus of ruffians in a music comedy. On the one hand the audience heard a male choir of 40, the most tuneful and disciplined band of the sort remembered on the stage; and on the other a cast of principals so little distinguished by the hierarchies of the spectacle that they would be considered for an engagement at the Municipal Theater.

"Damn" as a Vocabol of Mirth.
Against so effective a dramatic device as that of the third act finale—with a chorus set aloft like specters to body forth Prince Karl's memories of happy, youthful days—was opposed a conception of comedy which relied upon the hierarchies of the spectacle, "damn," and in its most frenetic struggles evolved such "mots" as pronouncing "heliolips" instead of "heliolips," and exclaiming, "The throne is titling—I mean, tottering."

And in contrast to a fleeting hint of pathos in Kathi's renunciation of her royal sweetheart, there was at one moment a stage full of sentimentalism as the moaned sadly, "Oh, Heidelberg!" Freed from prodigality with externals and penury in essentials, this incongruity excites no little sympathy as to the advertising boast that "The Student Prince" is the world's most glorious musical play.

The present production, which a brilliant cast might conceivably electrify, retains a skeleton of the old production, the "Student Prince" of the soul of "Old Heidelberg," a romantic play in which Richard Mansfield starred for many years. This, in turn, was based on a German novel by Wilhelm Fetter, a man who, graced by the iron rule of Prussia, set up as a defense mechanism the fiction that the masters of the world are really more unhappy than their serfs.

Karl Franz, her apparent to the throne of . . . Karlsruhe, obtains through his unpedantic tutor, Dr. Engel, the promise of a student at Heidelberg. His vacation endures only four months, but he has time to learn to guzzle a "malamander" with beer, and fall in love with Kathi, waitress at the Inn of the Three Golden Apples.

To crown these disillusioned, King Franz, announced that tomorrow she is to wed a hilly keeper. King Karl returns sadly to his palace, with nothing living but a throne and a waiting noble bride. This tale renews a prologue and four acts and did not reach an end until 11:30.

"The Student Prince" is virtually devoid of humor, and is not particularly absorbing as to story. Regarding Sigmund Romberg's score, we sought to listen attentively and found scarcely a moment of interest in his smooth, workmanlike music. Of course, it is not to be mentioned in the same breath with the score of "Hosianna," and seemed to the writer far less thrilling.

"The Student Prince" is the best moment of quotations from the old German university songs, such as "Hosianna" and "Hosianna." The dialogue and lyrics are cleverly. What was intended to be an unhappy ending turned out through vagaries of casting to appear a lucky escape. The name Kathi, by the way, was invariably spoken with the English "th."

FIGURES OF PROGRESS.
From the Thrift Magazine.
WE occupy only 5.7 per cent of the world's territory and represent only about 6.3 per cent of the world's population. Yet we produce 60 per cent of the world's pig iron, 53 per cent of all steel, 43 per cent of all coal. The 1924-25 crop of new life insurance written in August, 1925, was more than double the amount purchased in August, 1924, and four years ago.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.
EXCLAMATIONS of wonder and delight filled the Shubert Theater last night when the curtain rose upon the third act
of "The Student Prince in Heidelberg."

A spacious apartment of ceremony in a royal palace. Gargantuan tapestries, towering silken
arcs, great candelabra, a majestic
staircase and furnishings of gold were animated by a multitude of characters in sumptuous gowns and resplendent uniforms. No ornate revue has ever presented in St.
Louis a spectacle more opulent and aesthetic than this exploit of massive design and vibrant color.

A few minutes later, the Princes, Countesses, Ambassadors and other glittering dignitaries were clattering down a rowdy, tramping dance like a chorus of rustics in the musical comedy. On the one hand the audience heard a male choir of 46, the most tuneful and disciplined band of the sort remembered on the stage; and on the other a cast of principals as little distinguished vocally that not more than one of them would be considered for an engagement at the Municipal Theater.

"Damn" as a Vocabol of Mirth.
Against so effective dramatic devices as that of the third act finale—with a chorus set aloft like specters to body forth Prince Karl's memories of happy youthful days—was opposed a conception of comedy which relied upon the hilarities of the expetive
"damn," and in its most frenetic struggles evolved such mots as pronouncing "hellotrippe" instead of "hellotrippe," and exclaiming, "The throne is titting—I mean, tottering."

And in contrast to a fleeting hint
of pathos in Kathie's renunciation of her royal sweetheart, there was at one moment a stage full of sensational alumnus, and another so dramatic "Oh, Heidelberg!" Free-handed prodigality with external and penury in essentials—the incongruity excited no little scup-tism as to the advertising copyright. "The Student Prince" is "the world's most glorious musical play."

The present production, which a brilliant cast might conceivably deserve, retains a skeleton of the original, but is a microscopic vestige
of the soul of "Old Heidelberg,"
a romantic play in which Richard Mansfield starred for many years.
This, in turn, was based on a German play by Wilhelm Forster, a man who, graced by the iron rule
of Prussia, set up as a defense
mechanism the fiction that the masters of the world are really more unhappy than their serfs.

Karl Franz, heir apparent to the throne of Karlsberg, obtains
through his unpedantic tutor, Dr.
Engel, the promise of one year of vacation happiness as a student at Heidelberg. His vacation ends
only four months, but he has time
to don the colors of a student corps,
learn to fiddle a "salamander,"
with wit, and fall in love with Kathie, waitress at the Inn of the Three Golden Apples.

From these academic joys the Prince is plucked to assume a crown and to wed his cousin, Princess Margaret. He mopes about the palace for two years, putting off his marriage under various pretexts, and mooning over his betrayal. The betrothal dissolves, the Prince gives rise to the munificent third act.

Alas, Poor King!
Then the King returns to Heidelberg for a last visit, and is pitiably isolated to find that his old classmates address him as
"Your Majesty," stand in his presence, sip their beer with reserve,
and sing their college songs with an undertone of panic. To crown these disillusion, Kathie, spurred on by Princess Margaret, announces that tomorrow she is to become a livery keeper. King Karl returns sadly to his palace, with nothing on earth to make life worth living, and a throne and a crown, noble bride, and a story telling a prologue and four acts
and did not reach an end until the third act.

"The Student Prince" is virtually devoid of humor, and is not particularly absorbing as a story.
Regarding Sigmund Romberg's
music, we sought to listen attentively and found scarcely a moment of interest in his footnot and blacksmithlike music. Of course, it is not to be mentioned in the same breath with the score of "Blossom
Time" and seemed to the writer less thrilling than that of "The Student Prince." The best moments of quotations from the old German university songs,
as "Gaudemus igitur."
The dialogue and lyrics are generally, what was intended to be an unhappy ending turned out through vagaries of casting, to appear a lucky escape. The name
"Kathie" by the way, was invariably spoken with the English "th."

DUNCANS SCATTER SONGS AND ONIONS

By CARLOS F. HURD.

IN the days when "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was a classic of the village playhouse circuit, the more opulent of the "Tom shows" used to boast two Topsy, two lawyer Markses and two little Evas, besides a pack of bloodhounds and a dissolving lantern view of Eva's
death and descent to the skies.

There is only one Topsy in "Topsy and Eva," the Duncan Sisters' remarkably successful musical play, which is at the American this week. Rosetta Duncan is the blackface imp, and her grimaces,
squeaks and somersaults, complicate the entire comedy offering of the performance. Last night's houseful of people showed all the enthusiasm of last year's audience in the Chicago loop. Even Miss Duncan's reference to her misunderstanding with a policeman in Cicero—of which suburb many persons had never heard before that occurrence—brought a responsive
chorus of laughs.

Vivian Duncan is Eva, a plump
and flaxen-haired doll, sadly resembling the parental role. The sisters are together in all their stage appearances, and do some particularly pretty duet singing and drumming of stringed instruments. Their dialogue, amusing in spots, runs at times into banality and bad taste.
One of Topsy's best lines is her answer to her companion's query,
"Who was your mammy?"
The answer is, "Aa Jolson."

For the rest, the long performance is furnished by some 12
dancers and a group of singing folk who, when the musical score becomes thin, fall back upon Stephen Foster's airs, and on "Dixie" and the singing and dancing, there is just enough dialogue to remind the audience that there was once
such a book as "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Markis, George, Eliza, Legree and Uncle Tom are there, but Eliza does not cross the Ohio River on floating cakes of ice, and Legree
does not lash Uncle Tom to death.
—does not so much as crack a whip at him. The talk is mostly about the widow Shelby and her son, and their respective love affairs. Edmund Fitzpatrick, as a voiced Tom, and Dan Brennan, as a plantation owner, recall the days of the Georgia Minstrels.

Distribution of onions, to front-row spectators, adds to the sentimental appeal of Topsy's song,
"When It's Sweet Onion Time in Bermuda." The agile Topsy gets close to the audience at other times, and borrows the director's baton, which is held first in her fingers and then in her toes, at one of the show's merriest moments.

"New Brooms" Sweep Up Laughter
in Premiere at Empress.
Premiere at Empress. The new brooms sweep clean was responsible in part for the successful local premiere at the Empress yesterday of Frank Craven's comedy, by the Woodward Players saw to it that the brooms
picked up only laughter and
amusement, without the dust and
streaks of a job ill done.

"New Brooms" is a wholly distinct from the playright-actor's
other success, "The First Year," which dealt with the troubles of newlyweds. The latest offering takes up the age-old battle between father and son, the clash of generations. The father is a hard-headed practical broom manufacturer and the son a dreamer. In desperation over his indolence, the father turns over his home and factory to the son, with full power
of management for a year.

The son's motto always has been that open hand and hard control life. After six months of paying bills for sister, providing sport clothes and spending money for father and meeting the demands of the factory, the son becomes an improved edition of his parent as a grouch.

Raymond Brown, J. Glynn Mc-Gowan, and the Woodward Players saw to it that the brooms
picked up only laughter and
amusement, without the dust and
streaks of a job ill done.

None of the other five acts pro-
vokes cheers. They are: Ed and Jennie Rooney, trapeze performers; Evangeline and Kathie; Murray, sisterly harmonizers with agitated hills; Marie Chaney, Edward
Fox and a company in "Dance Visions of 1925," conventional and
uninspired dancing to and fro;
Arthur Babcock and Mlle. Lolly
and Lee Stafford and Mlle. Louise
in another dance act.

Invitations have been received for a bridge luncheon to be given by Mrs. John T. Bell, of the Jer-ferson Hotel and her daughter, Miss Charlotte T. Bell, Nov. 23, in honor of Miss Virginia Wagner,
a debutante of the season.

Social Activities

GUEST AT LUNCHEON

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Mc-Nally of 4437 McPherson avenue,
will entertain a group of debutantes
and their escorts at the performance of "The Student Prince" tonight, followed by supper and dancing at Hotel Chase, in honor of Miss Allen Longdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Longdale.
The guests in addition to the honorary will be Misses Elizabeth Cuendet, Juliet Lee Carpenter, Eugenie Edmunds and Josephine Bates and Messrs. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., Donier Gardner, Dana von Schrader, Albert Bond Lambert Jr. and Gene Baker, and Mr.
and Mrs. Longdale.

Miss Chouteau Scott, debutante daughter of Mrs. Pierre Chouteau Scott of the Forest Park Hotel,
was honor guest at a luncheon given today by Mrs. Ralph E. Niedinghaus of 2720 Lindell boulevard.
The guests were Misses Marion
Stoner, Josephine Bates, Allen
Longdale, Julia Evans, Helen Hus-
ner, Dorcas Carr Taylor, Mary Carter Davis, Agnes Benedict, Henrietta Hadley, Ruth Curby, buds of the winter; Dorothy Bohn, a de-butante of last year, and Mrs. Scott, mother of the honor guest.

The luncheon table was decorated in pink roses and lavender sweet peas.
The Rev. Dr. Harris H. Gregg of New York City, former pastor of the Washington-Compton Presbyterian Church, here accompanied by his wife, spent today here with
Dr. Gregg's mother, Mrs. H. H.
Gregg St. From here Dr. Gregg
will go to Chicago to lecture.

The Apollo Club has announced its first concert of the season at the Odeon Tuesday evening, Nov.
24. Miss Esther Dale of New York, soprano, will be soloist.

Mrs. Joseph Stephan Leahy of Berthold avenue is entertaining Mr.
and Mrs. O. L. Petrova, erstwhile movie queen, actress of the spoken stage, playwright and recently adjudged plagiarist, who is headlining a new bill at the Orpheum in a singing act, thereby proving her versatility, if not much else. She really sings quite well, attempting as a finale to give
"Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," in three different octaves. As usual, half her act consists of a "personality" talk, which she concludes with a rhymed explanation,
written by herself, of where babies
come from.

The high light of the program is the act of the Weaver brothers,
"Arkansas Travelers," virtuosi of the singing hand-saw and masters of homespun humor. Also there is Jimmy Savo, assisted by Joan Franza, in the same act he has been offering on the revue and vaudeville stages for the past several seasons. Savo is an excellent pantomimist.

None of the other five acts pro-
vokes cheers. They are: Ed and Jennie Rooney, trapeze perform-
ers; Evangeline and Kathie; Mur-
ray, sisterly harmonizers with agi-
tated hills; Marie Chaney, Edward
Fox and a company in "Dance
Visions of 1925," conventional and
uninspired dancing to and fro;
and Lee Stafford and Mlle. Louise
in another dance act.

C., to visit Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins

SEVERAL THOUSAND CHILDREN ATTEND SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY

Present Day Teachers Likened to Lined Disciples of First Christian Disciples.

A city-wide rally of Sunday school children of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was attended by several thousand children at Moolah Temple, yesterday.
Addresses were made by the Rev.
Grant A. Robbins, district superintendent; the Rev. Frank L. Wells, presiding elder; C. W. Hanks, district Sunday school superintendent;
E. A. Whitaker, district Sunday school superintendent, and the Rev. W. D. Boward, general secretary of education of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Mr. Boward, in his address, referred to the present-day
teachers of Christianity as the lineal descendants of the first Christian disciples, asserting that the future of Christianity depends on their efforts, their fearlessness
in bringing their teachings before the people, and in their tireless efforts to this end.

Scripture readings, songs and numbers by St. John's Sunday school orchestra, a male quartet
from Bowman Church and a men's chorus from Cabanne Church, a special chorus of 250 voices and a pageant by 30 young women made up the remainder of the program.
The rally was presided over by singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" by the entire assemblage.

NEW FILMS

Wright is like a brook. But then,
cynics will not see this picture.
Showing Dad.

M. R. ADOLPHE MENJOU is an
finished actor on the screen,
a chap who positively has no superiors at laughing up the sleeve.
His smirk has been accepted as the
emblem of delightful wickedness by
high school maidens and matrons
of unquestioned virtue in every
city, town and hamlet. His portrays of the gallant and unregenerate
rake have made such a person, not
only endurable but charming to motion picture audiences. But in his latest picture "The King on Main Street" at the Missouri, he doesn't
click. That is because he tries to be a rake and a hero, too. The result is a disgusting mixture of
deal and cheap idealism which
pleases neither sophisticates nor
innocents. King Serge of Molvania
starts to America to raise a loan on
his country's oil lands. He stops
at Paris to pick up his mistress,
whom he marries to his secretary
so as to make it all right with Americans for him to bring her
with him to this country. This begins his regular life as a regular. Just to prove he is a regular, he slips away from a business conference and goes to Coney
Island. By the time he has ridden
the roller coaster and consumed a
hot dog the audience is supposed to be convinced that King Serge is really a noble idealist at heart. He falls in love with an American girl,
whom he has met in Paris, and her
fiance, described as a "go-getter,"
invites the King to his home in Little Falls, N. Y. There is a great deal of sneering at the expense of Little Falls, which tries to give him
a welcome, and then comes the prize bit of hokum. The King and the American girl are accidentally locked on an upstairs porch. She will not permit him to raise the
house, because they might mis-
understand, so she stays with him
on the porch all night. In the morning
the noble King signs away his
country's oil lands to keep a regular from ruining the girl's reputation, and goes sadly back to Mol-vania. Such drive.

Oh, Auntie Sue.
THOSE who revel in sweetness
and light, and believe that the world on the whole is just like
Harold Bell Wright says, will enjoy
"The Re-creation of Brian Kent,"
at Kings and the Rivolt. Others
will find consolation in the
scenery of the picture, which is superb. It was either made in the Ozarks or in a country similar to
the Ozarks. The story deals with
the reformation of an absconding bank
clerk by Auntie Sue, who is what Pollyanna will be when she gets
to be 60. Then there are Judy and Betty Jo and the other characters
dear to Mr. Wright's public. The bank clerk makes back the money
he stole and squandered on a
painted woman writing a novel,
the bankers forgive him and he marries Betty Jo, who won her way to his heart by typing the novel
for him. Life is like a river," says one subtitle, which might lead cynics to remark that Harold Bell

gorgeous melodrama, splendidly staged and acted. Those who go to see it for the beauty of its love

vulsive phantom and his hopeless passion for the singer, Christine.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Wright is like a brook. But then,
cynics will not see this picture.
Showing Dad.

M. R. ADOLPHE MENJOU is an
finished actor on the screen,
a chap who positively has no su-
periors at laughing up the sleeve.
His smirk has been accepted as the
emblem of delightful wickedness by
high school maidens and matrons
of unquestioned virtue in every
city, town and hamlet. His portra-
ys of the gallant and unregenerate
rake have made such a person, not
only endurable but charming to
motion picture audiences. But in his
latest picture "The King on Main Street" at the Missouri, he doesn't
click. That is because he tries to
be a rake and a hero, too. The result is a disgusting mixture of
deal and cheap idealism which
pleases neither sophisticates nor
innocents. King Serge of Molvania
starts to America to raise a loan on
his country's oil lands. He stops
at Paris to pick up his mistress,
whom he marries to his secretary
so as to make it all right with Americans for him to bring her
with him to this country. This
begins his regular life as a regular. Just to prove he is a regular, he slips away from a business conference and goes to Coney
Island. By the time he has ridden
the roller coaster and consumed a
hot dog the audience is supposed
to be convinced that King Serge is
really a noble idealist at heart. He
falls in love with an American girl,
whom he has met in Paris, and her
fiance, described as a "go-getter,"
invites the King to his home in Little Falls, N. Y. There is a great deal of sneering at the expense of Little Falls, which tries to give him
a welcome, and then comes the
prize bit of hokum. The King and
the American girl are accidentally
locked on an upstairs porch. She
will not permit him to raise the
house, because they might mis-
understand, so she stays with him
on the porch all night. In the morning
the noble King signs away his
country's oil lands to keep a regula-
r from ruining the girl's reputation, and goes sadly back to Mol-
vania. Such drive.

Oh, Auntie Sue.
THOSE who revel in sweetness
and light, and believe that the
world on the whole is just like
Harold Bell Wright says, will enjoy
"The Re-creation of Brian Kent,"
at Kings and the Rivolt. Others
will find consolation in the
scenery of the picture, which is
superb. It was either made in the Ozarks or in a country similar to
the Ozarks. The story deals with
the reformation of an absconding bank
clerk by Auntie Sue, who is what Pollyanna will be when she gets
to be 60. Then there are Judy and Betty Jo and the other characters
dear to Mr. Wright's public. The
bank clerk makes back the money
he stole and squandered on a

INSURANCE OFFICERS OUSTED

Deputy Sheriffs Smash Doors of Concern in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The Public Life Insurance Co. is in charge of new officers and directors. Deputy Sheriffs Saturday stormed the company's offices, smashed down the doors and ousted the old officers. The new officers have started a search for assets, which they said should be $750,000.

Officers elected nearly a year ago had been unable to serve because the incumbents denied that the election had been proper. The concern is said to have a life insurance business of more than $5,000,000.

ADVERTISMENT

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them

now with CROCODOLIN, an emulsified

crocodile that is pleasant to take. Crocodolin is a new medical discovery

with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocodile is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Crocodile contains, in addition to crocodile, other healing elements which soothe and heal

the inflamed membrane and stop the infection and inflammation, while the crocodile goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat

of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ.

Crocodile is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma,

bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu.

Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Cro-

INJURED.

Mrs. Freddie Dyer, 22, negro, of 2014 Division street.

George Metter Jr., 15, of 3815A

California avenue.

Two youths were killed when an automobile in which they were riding overturned in a ditch on

Concord School road, near Sapping-

ton Barracks road, St. Louis County, early yesterday, but two companions escaped injury.

Those killed were Roy Knopp, 17

years old, of 5209 Wren avenue,

and Earl Mescke, 18, of 5238

Plover avenue. The car, a Hudson touring, was driven by Anthony Helms, 21, who gave his address as 5121 South Sixteenth street. The fourth occupant was

George S. Phale, 22, of 4849 Sigel

avenue. Helms and Knopp were in the front seat and the others in the rear.

Helms testified at the Coroner's inquest today, at which a verdict of accident was returned, that each member of the party had had just one drink of wine at a dance

at the Oakville Farmers' Club,

which they attended. He declared

he was driving about 20 miles an hour and that snow on the windshield obscured his vision. He failed to see a sharp curve and the car ran into a deep ditch, toppling

over.

The accident occurred shortly after 2 a. m. All but Knopp were able to crawl from under the car.

Mescke complained of feeling faint

and laid down. When passing machines refused to stop and occupants of a neighboring farmhouse failed to answer their calls. Helms and Phale went to a garage

on Sappington Barracks road for a tow car. When they returned

they found Mescke and Knopp dead. Knopp of a skull fracture and Mescke of a fracture of the neck.

Unidentified Man, About 60, Killed

by an Automobile.

An unidentified man, who was struck by an automobile at Pendleton avenue and Page boulevard

at 7 p. m. yesterday, died of a fracture of the skull at city hospital at midnight. His death brought the number of motor vehicle fatalities

in St. Louis so far this year to 161, compared with 159 in the same period last year.

The man was crossing Page boulevard from the south side to the north. He was struck by a machine

being driven west by Archie Teare,

a salesman, of 1915A Page boulevard. Teare declared that he had seen the man in passing and that the man must have walked into the rear end of the car.

On the man's soft collar was the initial D. He appeared to be in the 60's, nearly 4 feet tall and weighing about 170 pounds. He had gray hair and mustache and was partly bald. He wore a gray

hat, gray overcoat, striped gray suit

and brown sweater. He had a watch and $1.67 in his pockets.

Three Negroes Killed When Auto

Plunges Off Viaduct.

Three negroes were killed and another seriously injured when a

sedan in which they were riding plunged through a railing of the Grand boulevard viaduct at 8:45 a.

m. yesterday. The car, a Hudson, fell about 50 feet to the railroad

yards, crashing through the heavy iron bridge railing.

The killed were Robert Wells,

34, of 2124 Chestnut street; Wheeling McCullough, 40, of 3223 Bell

avenue, and Rosewood Johnston,

45, of 2043 Division street. The fourth occupant of the car, Mrs.

Freddie Singleton, 22, of 2014 Division street, is in city hospital No.

2 with a fractured skull and internal injuries. Wells and McCullough were killed instantly and

Johnston died at the hospital an hour and a half later. The men

all suffered numerous fractures of bones.

Wells had rented the car from

Harold Simpson, a negro, of 3523

Laclede avenue. The accident occurred about 150 feet from the south end of the viaduct.

A Coroner's verdict of accident

was returned today, after testimony by Theodore and Irvin Blach-

sch, brothers, of 2664A Shaw boulevard. They were driving south in the viaduct and the Hudson was going north. A southbound Packard car sped past them, they related, and its rear end brushed against the rear end of their car,

shoving them towards the curb.

They declared there was room for the Hudson on the east side, but that it appeared to swerve to avoid the Packard, and then went through the railing. The Hudson, they thought, was going about 20 miles an hour.

The Packard stopped for a moment and then was driven on. Its license number was supplied to the police by the Blachs. The license was issued to Ralph Burke

How to Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff, inflamed, pain-tortured joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named, Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twinging, inflamed stiff, pain-tortured joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause, Joint-Ease soaks straight in through skin and flesh right down to the tendons and ligaments of the joints—right where all the trouble starts—and then blessed relief comes quickly.

Remember, Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, spine or finger, and when you rub it on you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at Walgreen Drug Co., successors to Junior & Dolph Drug Store, Walgreen-Walton Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co., and drugists everywhere for 60 cents a tube.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick!

SOVIET OFFICIALS SIGN THE SIBERIAN GOLD CONCESSION

Anglo-American Syndicate Wins Grant, Largest Made so Far by the Russians.

By the Associated Press. MOSCOW, Nov. 14.—The Lena Goldfields concessions, provisionally granted to an Anglo-American syndicate by the Soviet Government last April and ratified by the Council of Commissars in August, has been signed in final form by Felix Dzerzhinsky, of the Supreme Council of National Economy, and countersigned by Maxim Litvinoff, of the Soviet Foreign Office.

This concession is the largest yet made by the Soviet Government. It is in the form of a 50-year contract with the Lena Goldfields Co. for the exploitation of the Lena Goldfields in Siberia which are estimated to contain more than $100,000,000 worth of gold. American banking interests participate to the extent of 50 per cent of the investment. The grant was negotiated by Walter Liman Brown of Los Angeles, Alexander Melozemoff of Oakland, Cal., and Maj. Frederick Davis Gwynne of London.

The Lena Goldfields Co. embraces also the interests of the Russian Mining Corporation, Ltd., the Altai Mines, Ltd., and the Siberian Co., which with the Lena Goldfields Co. operated the properties before the Russian revolution in 1917. The properties will be taken over immediately by the Anglo-American concessionaires. The technical staff will be largely British and American. Under the contract the Russian authorities turn over to the company many steamers, steel barges, and tugs "for transportation" on the Lena river. The company agrees to install $7,000,000 worth of modern mining equipment which will be largely of American manufacture.

RECEPTION TO JOHN BALFOUR HERE BY ZIONIST WORKERS

Several Hundred Persons Interested in Jewish Homeland in Palestine Greet British Diplomat. Several hundred St. Louis supporters of the Zionist movement for the establishment of a Jewish homeland in Palestine, attended a reception in honor of John Balfour, second secretary of the British Embassy in Washington, held yesterday afternoon at Hotel Statler.

Balfour is the nephew of Arthur James Balfour, former Prime Minister, who was the author of the wartime pledge for the establishment of a Jewish state. The young diplomat, who arrived here a week before with Ambassador Howard and accompanied the Ambassador to points west of St. Louis, stopped here on his return to meet the Zionists.

Speakers at the meeting were the Rev. Dr. Samuel Sale, Leon Gellman, Max Baron, Gustave Klausner and Mrs. William H. Goldman. The guest of honor, in a short talk, assured his hearers of the continuing interest of his Government in the Zionist enterprise.

NEGRO SLAIN IN STREET FIGHT

Row Started Over Woman at Party Ended Fatally. Joseph Brooks, 37 years old, a negro, was shot to death by Peter W. Waite, 49, also a negro, at 6 p. m. yesterday, when Waite came out of 2113 Randolph street, after taking home a woman whom, he said, Brooks had annoyed at a party. Waite told police he had assisted in ejecting Brooks from the party and that Brooks had said he was going to "get a gun and kill somebody." As Waite left the home of his companion, he said, he asked her to give him a revolver. He declared that Brooks was waiting with his hand on his revolver when Waite came out, but was slow on the draw.

The Darling of Destiny

MILDRED BARBOUR

Concerning the Action and Characters.

SUE DRUMMOND, a young Virginia girl, on the death of her father goes to live in the Long Island home of relatives. The family consists of—

MRS. BLANCHARD, sister of Sue's father.

COL. BLANCHARD, a stock market speculator.

ROGER, their son, a would-be playwright.

JOAN, unmarried daughter; while near by lives—

JOSEPHINE, the elder daughter, wife of—

JACK ADAMSON, a young business man.

On the train an attractive woman leaves in Sue's care a handbag, which she fails to reclaim. Josephine gives a dinner in Sue's honor, and Sue wears a string of beads she finds in the handbag.

MR. HASKINS, a theatrical promoter, is curious about them.

CHAPTER VII.

The Spider and the Fly.

HASKINS' car made its way slowly up Broadway through the noonday rush. Sue was thrilled with her first daytime sight of the greatest street in the world. Unlike most people who have read a great deal about Broadway and see it for the first time, she found glamour even in the hot glare of the sunlight and the faint, gray skeletons that would blossom with myriad-colored lights when darkness fell and display to an appreciative world the triumphant achievement of modern advertising devices.

When the car drew up before a theater building in the Forties, the chauffeur opened the door and assisted her to alight.

"Mr. Haskins is waiting for you in his office. Will you come with me?"

Sue followed him up several flights of dark stairs. He opened a green door at the top and ushered her into a narrow, dark cubicle where a telephone girl sat before a switchboard.

"Will you tell Mr. Haskins that Miss Drummond is here," he said to the girl, touching his cap at his departure.

A tall, slender young man who was leaning carelessly on the top of the board, turned to stare at her appraisingly, and he and the girl exchanged significant glances.

"Mr. Haskins is engaged for a few minutes. Won't you be seated?"

When Sue turned to take the chair she indicated, she heard the girl remark in a low tone to her companion:

"Another pippin! Some boy!"

A few minutes later Sue was ushered into a large, luxuriously appointed office whose walls were lined with photographs of theatrical celebrities. Haskins rose from behind a handsome desk and took both her hands in greeting.

"Sorry to have kept you waiting. I'm a busy man, you see. Can you amuse yourself for a moment until I sign a couple of letters, and then we will eat."

Sue wandered about the room, looking at the scores of framed photographs. She thought the women very beautiful and she noted that each one bore an inscription in a dashing hand: "To Freddy with my best love," "To Freddy in Memory," "Always your friend and admirer," etc.

"How about a little drink before lunch?" suggested Haskins.

He swung about in his swivel chair and opened a beautifully carved cabinet; Sue caught a glimpse of rows of bottles and the sparkle of polished glasses.

"Anything you like here, say the word."

She shook her head smilingly.

"Thank you, I have not learned to drink," and very softly she added, "yet."

"You'll learn a lot of things in this town, my dear," he replied with a shrug. "I'd rather like to be the man who teaches you."

She raised wide, guileless eyes. "But why not?"

He came over to her and took her chin between his forefinger and thumb; a little cynical smile quivered at the corners of his mouth.

"Trying to flirt with me, aren't you? Don't waste your time. I know all the tricks and I can't be caught. Too many women have tried it and regretted it."

Sue's eyes swept the pictured wall.

"All those?" she asked.

He laughed and made a dissenting gesture.

"Those are purely professional. I keep my real photographs at home. I have a rather nice apartment uptown. You must come to dinner there with me, some night."

"I should love to," Sue agreed with the air of a delighted child.

He looked at her for a minute with narrowed eyes, then shrugged again and turned away.

"Well, come, let's be off. If you won't drink, you will at least eat, I hope."

The car bore them swiftly up Riverside Drive to the Claremont. Haskins led Sue to a table overlooking the Hudson; it was cool and pleasant, with the chessmen wide open and the green-striped awnings deflecting the hot sunlight. The Hudson spread below them, broad and sparkling and dotted here and there with ships at anchor; beyond the Fallades lay wrapped in silvery midsunmer haze.

They were hardly seated before other people began to come to their table to greet Haskins enthusiastically. Some of them he presented to Sue; others he drew aside in brief colloquy and dismissed in short order. Sue noted that most of the people who came were of the same type, men dressed in the extreme of fashion according to Broadway's taste, a little over-groomed, with something rather pallid and unwholesome about their faces.

They were just beginning their luncheon when a smartly-gowned girl swept up to their table, a hat with an enormous plume partly concealed her face, but Sue recognized her as the girl whom Roger had introduced outside the Ritz as Corinne de Verne.

"Well! Miss de Verne's eyes opened wide when she recognized Sue. 'So the fly has walked into the spider's web so soon?' You don't waste much time; I'll say that for you, Freddy."

Haskins drew out a chair for her, and she sank into it with a great rustling of silks and tinkling of bracelets; her every movement released waves of some oriental perfume.

"You see, Corinne," said Haskins with a smile; "I'm such a kindly paternal old spider. I keep little girls from getting into other webs that might be dangerous."

"Dear, protective Freddy," she mocked him. "That's a new role for you. It's enough to make the angels laugh."

He changed the subject abruptly.

"They tell me you gave a rotten performance last night. Better watch out, Corinne. You're in wrong with a couple of influential people at the theater, and I can't always save you."

The crimson of anger flooded her face and throat; her eyes flashed and she struck her clenched fist sharply on the table.

"It's a lie! I know who told you that, and he is a dirty—" she broke off suddenly, at Haskins' warning glance toward Sue.

"I had a rotten headache last night; it's a wonder that I went on at all, but I went through torments to keep you from calling off the show and losing money."

Her voice was rising higher and higher in her anger; Haskins leaned over and closed his hand hard around her wrist.

"Now cut that! You know why you went on. It wasn't to save us money. It's because your understudy is too blame good. That kid has talent. All she needs is a chance, and if you know what's good for you, you'll take good care that she doesn't get it."

The girl's throat began to work convulsively; she fumbled in her bag for a handkerchief.

"You're cruel and heartless," she half sobbed, "and I hate you."

She stumbled to her feet and made her way swiftly through the crowded room with many curious eyes following her.

Haskins shrugged and frowned.

"Little vixen, you can always count on her to make a scene. Oh, these women!"

A TIP FROM HASKINS.

SUE looked after Corinne as the actress made her way swiftly through the crowded restaurant.

"She's right. You are cruel and heartless," she said to Haskins instantly.

dignantly. "How could you hurt her so?"

He laughed shortly.

"Hurt Corinne de Verne? Impossible; that was only a burst of temperance. She loves to dramatize herself and do the tragedy queen over the simplest thing; if a new gown does not fit, for instance, or somebody steals one of her laughs during the performance. You mustn't let your sympathy run away with you because of your inexperience. Corinne is like a million others of her type, a purely material creature, whose sensibilities are encased in steel."

"You know all about women, don't you?" murmured Sue.

"I know that all women are alike; they belong to one class whose motto is: 'Get everything; give as little as possible—nothing at all if you can get away with it!'"

"How frightfully cynical you sound," protested Sue. "Don't you believe in anything beautiful?"

He leaned across the table to her.

"Let me tell you something; beauty means nothing to me—feminine beauty, I mean. I've seen too much of it. Beauty palls; it's sickening. It's like a daily diet of nesselrode pudding. It demands perpetual admiration, and that is tiresome. Most men will tell you differently, but most men are fools. Let me tell you the thing that really counts for me—that's brains. I don't mean this highbrow stuff, but just a dash of mentality inside a pretty head to add flavor and zest to every situation. Strangely enough," he laid his hand arrestingly over hers which toyed with her water glass, "strangely enough, I believe you have that rare combination."

She shook her head smilingly.

"I'm afraid you're laughing at me now."

"What have you come to New York for?" he asked, abruptly changing the subject. "You don't belong here, you know. Of course, the Blanchards will try to marry you off as soon as possible. They can't afford not to. I don't know whether you know it or not—the Colonel is pretty rocky financially. They put up a good bluff, of course, but it can't last forever. Nevertheless, whatever they try to persuade you to do, take my advice and hold out for a big price; you've the charm to swing it."

Sue lifted wide blue eyes.

"Thank you," she said demurely, "but you are quite mistaken about me. I have no motive in being here. I'm just a foolish girl who is having her first holiday in a wonderful world."

"You want to be careful," he told her. "There are lots of pitfalls for little girls who are seeing life for the first time."

"I seem to have heard that before," she murmured; "but why do you tell me this? Are you warning me against yourself?"

"Not at all. You are quite safe with me. Anyone can tell you that I play the game squarely."

The smile that flickered momentarily on Sue's lips might have told him that she was discounting that statement, but she only said:

"How kind you are. When I need advice, may I come to you?"

"I want to go to the new impresario that her experience with Haskins had given her, one thought persisted—a thought that destroyed

her buoyancy. She recalled Haskins' words:

"The Blanchards will try to marry you off, of course. They can't afford not to—but take my advice, and hold out for a big price."

She dismissed the thought with a shrug and went about the business she had determined upon.

"Really, how extraordinary. I never forget mine."

"You'll learn," he told her grimly. "Now, when shall I see you again?"

"Perhaps you will call me up some time," she nodded good-by at the entrance to the shop, where a uniformed page held open the door for her. As she turned away she noted that Haskins was standing beside his car wearing a strange, half-puzzled expression.

She was smiling inwardly as she tripped into the shop.

"Not so bad, Sue, my dear," she congratulated herself.

Bolder and Balder (?)

DRAWN BY POPINI

Is it true? Or is it just a reiteration of the age-old cry: "What are the women coming to?" Centuries ago when women used yards and yards of silks and laces and velvets to fashion their costumes, and piled their hair in grotesque coiffures full of powder, it seems that there was no room left in their heads for anything but vanity. Then as the years passed and the styles changed to the "shirtwaist girl," the fact was deplored that women were losing their femininity. But were they?

Now, in these days of bobbed heads and abbreviated dresses,

women were never so lovely, either physically or mentally. And it strikes me that their mental processes have far out-progressed their styles and fashions. For with the short heads and short skirts has come a freedom of thought and a franker outlook on life than ever before, and who can deny that this is not as it should be? Will they become balder? Perhaps! Scantier dresses? Perhaps! But if their minds and thoughts and feelings keep pace with their independence, who are we that we should try to stop the wheels of progress and beauty? For such it is and ever will be! —POPINI.

Beefsteak Pie.

Cut two and a half pounds of top sirloin steak into convenient small pieces. Line a buttered, deep pan, dash with good short pastry. Put in the meat with pepper and salt, sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of onion juice, cut in half a pound of fresh mushrooms, dot thickly with butter, dust with flour and sprinkle with a cupful of good, well-seasoned stock. Put on the top crust, having a vent in the center, and bake in a medium oven until the crust is done. Sometimes, a quarter pound of calf's liver may be added and chopped fine and added to the pie. Also a couple of slices of bacon may be placed on top just before the top crust is added.

Laundering Methods That Conserve Clothes

WINTER smoke, soot and dirt are injurious to all fabrics. Thorough cleansing is essential.

That is one of the reasons why we advise sending "ALL THE LAUNDRY" to the Excelsior-Leader.

Clothes are laundered under ideal conditions in our ultra-modern, sunlight plant. Our improved methods insure thorough cleansing. Not a single article is slighted. Clothes are washed and rinsed in from seven to nine different waters without harmful rubbing. Only rainsoft water and purest soaps are used.

There is perfect sanitary and hygienic handling of every article. The quality of work is uniform week after week. And when the clothes are finished they have an appearance that no home work can produce, and resist soil longer.

Let us relieve you this winter of the troublesome laundry problem. Send your bundle here once and be convinced how superior our methods are.

The Elephant and the Lead Pencil.

If you were as big as an elephant, you might be annoyed to be required to lift a lead pencil.

Yet the lead pencil is the only thing an elephant—

What are you going to do with it?

If I were your size, the lead pencil would be one of the first things I would want to learn to use.
